

Ten Eyck is Responsible For Pulling Two-Billion Dairy Trade Out of Red

Legislature Gave Control of State Department of Agriculture and Markets to Ten Eyck with Very Great Power.

STATE MILK CZAR

Local Health Officers in State Cannot Approve Milk Business On Own Authority.

Albany, N. Y., April 19 (AP).—Up on the shoulders of Peter G. Ten Eyck, former Albany port commissioner and gentleman farmer, rests the responsibility of pulling New York state's $2,000,000,000 dairy industry out of a "red" and placing it on a sound financial basis.

The 1935 legislature which closed one of the most hectic sessions in recent history last Wednesday, turned over control of the State Department of Agriculture and Markets to Ten Eyck and granted him sufficient power to meet almost any emergency in handling the many problems of milk production and distribution in the state. Previously the department's affairs had been handled by Charles Baldwin, a Republican.

One of the most important milk bills passed by the legislature and signed by Governor Herbert H. Lehman gave Commissioner Ten Eyck power to rule on all milk price changes.

This was accomplished by stripping the milk advisory committee of all powers to dictate milk price changes and giving Commissioner Ten Eyck the final word in all such matters. Under Republican control the committee was bound by the vote of the committee in all questions relating to milk problems.

The second most important legislation gave the commissioner full authority to prevent dumping of cheap milk from other states by curbing the powers of local health officers.

Under the new set up health officers of any county, city or village of the state are refused the right to approve any premises on which milk is produced, or any plant in which milk is handled, or to authorize the shipment of milk from such plant or premises for sale or use within the state without the sanction of the commissioner.

Another amendment to the milk law provides that the commissioner be empowered to adjust the license fee of chain stores handling milk in order to allow the smaller merchant a larger share of the milk business.

In addition to the changes in the milk law, the legislature authorized a $400,000 appropriation to continue the state's milk publicity campaign for another year. The campaign started last year with a $500,000 appropriation and New York state citizens, through newspaper advertising, radio, posters and other advertising mediums, were urged to "drink more milk."

With the new fund, the state hopes to materially increase the gains in milk consumption reported by agriculture officials in the last half of 1934.

The campaign fund is returned to the state through a one-half cent tax paid by farmers and dealers for every 100 pounds of milk sold.

The other major farm legislation provided for a corporation to aid farmers in moving from unproductive lands by making $500,000,000 in federal funds available to them. The federal funds also are to be used in purchasing farm tools and accessories which needy farmers are unable to purchase.

VALE ROWING COACH

RESCUES FALLEN FLIER.

Derby, Conn., April 19 (AP).—The small "bull pup" single seated monoplane owned by John Sherman, 23, of Cleveland, O., Yale law school student, rests at the bottom of the Housatonic river here today, but Sherman himself is safe and sound, thanks to an amazing bit of luck and the resourcefulness of Ed Leader, Yale varsity crew coach.

Sherman was flying from New York to New Haven yesterday afternoon when he dipped low over the river to watch the Eli boatmen at practice, flew into a high tension line spanning the Housatonic at that point and somersaulted with his plane into the water.

Leader, who saw the accident from the bank, jumped into the "Boat," Yale's coaching launch, hurried to the spot where the plane was sinking and pulled Sherman from the river, wet and cold but unhurt.

Sherman, who described the accident with nonchalance last night, could not be reached for further comment this morning.

Col. Garrison Dies

Baltimore, April 19 (AP).—Col. H. Garrison, a pioneer in medical history in this country and internationally known as a medical historian and historian, is dead at 64. Failing to rally from an abdominal operation, he died yesterday at the Johns Hopkins Hospital. Funeral services will be held here tomorrow.

90-Year-Old Cyclist Hitches To Car, Upsets

Spokane, Wash., April 19 (AP).—John J. White, 93, squinted a blackened eye today and declared there was nothing unusual in his "gallivanting around on a bicycle."

Undaunted by a tumble which sent him pedaling to the emergency hospital a few days ago, White said he hadn't the slightest idea of giving up cycling—in which he became interested at 90.

"That accident was nothing," said White.

"I just made a mistake when I hitched on behind a truck like the boys do. Everything was fine until I cut loose. I rode to the hospital because I thought these scratches ought to be looked after."

The "scratches" were a large bump on his forehead, a cut and blackened eye, bruises and abrasions.

Riding around town may be all right, but personally he prefers trips like those he made last summer to the Grand Coulee dam site (100 miles); to Sandpoint, Idaho (80 miles); and to Couer D'Alene, Idaho (30 miles).

"There's a little trip that's nice in the summer," White recalled, "that's to Liberty Lake. It's only 17 miles, but a man can dive in and cool off."

P. M. C. Corporation To Move to Phoenixia; Cassidy to Open Plant

The P. M. C. corporation which for several years past has occupied the building on Stephan street, formerly occupied by the Brown Manufacturing Company, will on May 1 move to the former Segelken garage building in Phoenixia village. John A. Cassidy, formerly superintendent of the Lorillard Refrigeration Company of this city, has leased the building which the P. M. C. corporation will vacate and will manufacture refrigerators and do a general woodworking and metal business.

Mr. Cassidy has leased the plant for a term of years with an option to purchase.

The building located at Stephan street is owned by Mrs. Emma F. Bogart. For many years the late Alva H. Bogart operated the factory doing a general business in the manufacture of kitchen utensils and small novelties. On his death the plant was vacant for a time and then was leased to the P. M. C. corporation which continued the manufacture of the kitchen utensils and also the electro plating business.

From 15 to 18 men were given employment at the plant by the P. M. C. Corporation which was operated by Augustus Simpson, the late Louis Keen and Herbert Segelken of Phoenixia. Mr. Segelken later withdrew from the company which was continued by Mr. Simpson. His brother, Carroll Simpson, is now associated with him in the business.

Asked as to the reason for the moving of the plant to Phoenixia it was stated that since many of the men employed resided in that locality the matter of convenience was the prime reason for the move.

The business conducted by the company is widespread with shipments going to practically every portion of the world.

Augustus Simpson, president of the corporation, will continue in charge of the mechanical and business end of the business and Carroll Simpson will be general manager.

A Kingston agency for electro plating will be maintained by the P. M. C. corporation at the plant store at 53 Crown street, opposite the Uptown Bus Terminal where orders may be left. The electro plating business is one of the big items of the company and a general metal plating business is operated, including the electro plating of automobile parts, etc.

The machinery in the plant will be moved as rapidly as possible to Phoenixia so as not to interfere with the operation of the plant and by May 1 the entire business of the corporation will be operated from the plant in Phoenixia. The new location is in the large garage structure at the lower end of the village of Phoenixia which was formerly occupied by the Segelken garage.

Plagium in Jerusalem

Jerusalem, April 19 (AP).—Plagium symbolizing Christ waggling under the burden of the cross walked along historic via Dolorosa in today's Good Friday ceremonies at the Holy City. The pilgrims halted and knelt at each of the fourteen stations along the way from the first at the Praetorium where Christ was condemned to death to the last in the Holy Sepulcher street.

A solemn burial procession starting with the removal of the effigy of the crucified from the cross in Calvary marked the evening's observance.

(By Associated Press)

On the eve of his 46th birthday, Adolf Hitler faces today another of the crises on which he has rocketed to power.

While loyal Nazis throughout the Reich acclaim "handsome Adolf" of the drooping forelock and toothbrush moustache, the Reichsfuehrer himself is plunged deep in deliberation over what answer to make to the League of Nations' condemnation of his disregard of the Versailles treaty.

Among the World's most powerful rulers, Hitler stands out today a pattern of paradox. Of humble Austrian birth, he will be hailed on his birthday through all Germany; sponsor of anti-semitism, he will be feted even in Palestine; dictator of a nation until only recently disarmed, he will receive fighting airplanes among his birthday presents.

The planes, a squadron of nine, were purchased by Hitler's storm troopers through popular subscription as a symbol of the rearmament.

To emphasize their meaning, came the first of the many congratulatory birthday messages to be made public, a loyal address from the German Officers' Association.

"The old army officers who know what war means therefore do not wish for its recurrence. We hail the re-creation of our army a bulwark against Bolshevik raids and a safeguard against attack by imperialist enemies on an otherwise defenseless country."

The rearmament of the Reich, including compulsory military service, was but the latest of Hitler's spectacular acts in the last year.

On June 29, 1934, he purged his party in blood. The official death toll was 77; the explanation, that a revolt had been planned and the victims were traitors.

On August 2, on the death of President Paul von Hindenburg, he concentrated the powers of president and chancellor in his own hands.

In January 12, 1935, his propaganda machine ground out a victory in the Saar, which voted overwhelmingly in plebiscite to return to Germany.

On January 30, 1935, the second anniversary of his accession to the chancellorship, he proclaimed:

"In the first half of the four-year period which I asked the nation to give me to develop my working plan, more than two-thirds of what I promised has been carried out."

On March 16 he announced rearmament and renounced the peace treaty terms.

Earlier, Socialists and Communists had been herded into concentration camps, Jews boycotted, trade unions abolished as Marxian, and women told to devote themselves to children and kitchen.

Despite Hitler's anti-Semitic policies, his birthday will be observed officially in Palestine tomorrow for the first time since his accession to power. The German consulate has issued invitations to notables and members of the Palestine government to attend a celebration in the Reichsfuehrer's honor.

Abroad, Hitler has demanded equality in all things for Germany. He withdrew his delegates from the Geneva Disarmament Conference and sent in Germany's resignation from the League of Nations.

From his beginnings as the son of an Austrian customs inspector, Hitler rose without wealth, without influence, to become in turn an immigrant house painter, a World War private, and in 1919, the leader of a group of seven, nucleus of the National Socialist party.

The beer parlors of Munich were the Nazis' platform. The oratory of Adolf Hitler was the ladder to power. While Hendrickson and his wife, Elizabeth, in 1923, the attempt to seize power that ended in death for some of them, jail for Hitler.

Regional Conference of Hendrickson and Wife Social Workers To Be Held By Police, Charged Held Here on May 1st With Drunken Driving Social Workers From Seven Counties Will Hold An All Day Conference at Court House with a Fine Program.

MANY DELEGATES

All of the Sessions Will Be Open to Public—Expect 250 Delegates to Attend.

The regional conference of the New York State Conference on Social Work will be held at the court house on Wall street on Wednesday, May 1, when an all-day session will be held, commencing at 10 o'clock in the morning. The delegates will be entertained at a luncheon at noon and a dinner in the evening at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

Seven counties, Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, Ulster and Westchester, will be represented by delegates at the conference and it is expected that about 250 delegates will be registered.

The conference sessions will be open to the general public and will prove of great interest to any one who is interested in social work. The program committee has arranged an interesting and instructive program with a number of excellent speakers.

Among those who will address the conference are Bernard J. J. 4-H Club director of Ulster county; Prof. Robert A. Polson of Cornell University; Miss Agnes Sullivan of the State Division of Probation, who will speak at the morning session.

The noon luncheon speaker will be Frederick Moran, director of the State Division of Probation.

At the afternoon session some of the speakers will be Dr. Frank Laidlaw, of the state health department; Richard Wallace of the State Department of Social Welfare; John Sanderson of Rochester; Miss Madeline Lay of Brooklyn; Thomas C. of the State TERA.

The dinner speaker will be Glen E. Jackson, assistant director of the State TERA.

The local committee in charge of the conference is sparing no effort to make it one of the most successful held in the district.

GANDHI REFUSES TO SEE WEALTHIEST GIRL

Calcutta, India, April 19 (AP).—Mahatma Gandhi has failed again to honor Mrs. Doris Duke Cromwell, sometimes called "the richest girl in the world," with an audience.

The "holiest one" recently refused to grant Mrs. Cromwell's request for an interview at Wada. Since that time, it was learned today, she has been writing him repeatedly in an attempt to learn something of his simple philosophy of life.

"Black Dillingers" Hanged

Baltimore, April 19 (AP).—James A. Gross, 25, and Gordon Dent, 30, both negroes, who called themselves the "Black Dillingers" during their depredations in Prince George's county, were hanged at the state penitentiary early today. The extreme penalty was exacted for the murder of John T. Geary, Jr., in the hold-up of his barbecue stand at Priest's Bridge last June. It was one of a series of Prince George's county robberies laid to the "Black Dillingers," Donald Parker, 24, had been sentenced to die with them, but Gov. Albert C. Ritchie commuted the sentence to life imprisonment shortly before he left office in January. Parker aided the prosecution after his arrest.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, April 19 (AP).—The position of the treasury on April 17 was: Receipts, $61,561,085.59; expenditures, $57,559,927.18; balance, $2,180,410,550.35; customs receipts for the month, $18,724,258.25. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $3,012,317,004.33; expenditures, $5,424,933,434.27 (including $2,770,479,704.34 of emergency expenditures); excess of expenditures, $2,475,015,449.94; gold assets, $5,471,750,730.57.

License Plate Bill Attached

Albany, N. Y., April 19 (AP).—The bill providing a new type translucent automobile registration plate to substitute for the regular metallic plate, today was attached by the New York State Automobile Association. The bill now is before Governor Herbert H. Lehman for his signature or veto. "We expect that the plate described in this bill is a patented product, and, if so, would cost the state of New York from $2 to $5 per plate," Warner Bates, secretary of the association, said in a letter to Governor Lehman to veto the bill. "Passage of the bill probably would mean an additional tax burden of from $5,000,000 to $12,000,000 on the people," Bates explained.

Couple Arrested on North Front St. Thursday Night and Lodged in County Jail—Joseph Brayton Complained.

BLAZE IN CELL

Mrs. Hendrickson Started Fire in Her Cell, Damaged Mattress, Blankets—Pleaded Guilty.

Orville G. Hendrickson of 455 Albany avenue, and his wife, Elizabeth, faced Judge Culliton in police court this morning, both charged with operating an automobile on North Front street while in an intoxicated condition. The wife pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $25 and her operator's license revoked. Her husband said that he was not driving the car but his wife had the wheel. He also said that he had been drinking but was not intoxicated. Judge Culliton adjourned the husband's hearing to Tuesday morning and Hendrickson left his car in the possession of the police department as bail for his appearance in court next week.

According to the statements made by Officers Keresman and Relyea, who made the arrests, they were in the prowl car and were stopped by Joseph Brayton of 151 First avenue, who complained that Hendrickson's car had nearly struck him, and that Hendrickson appeared to be intoxicated.

The police placed Hendrickson under arrest, and allege that while they were taking him out of his car that his wife suddenly slid into the driver's seat and started to drive away. They gave chase in the prowl car and overhauled her and placed her under arrest on a similar charge—that of driving a car while intoxicated.

The husband and wife were lodged in different cells in the county jail, and during the night quite a brisk bonfire was discovered in the woman's cell.

Broke Glass in Door

While Hendrickson and his wife were being held in police headquarters this morning before being arraigned in police court, Steve Cramer, who has a barbershop on Foxhall avenue, called at police headquarters and said that the woman had been in his shop Thursday afternoon for a haircut, and had gone out leaving her eyeglasses behind.

Mr. Cramer said that the woman when she missed her glasses after the shop was closed had tried to get in the shop, and finding the door locked had broken a glass in the door. Mrs. Hendrickson said she had not broken the glass, but her husband informed Mr. Cramer that he had seen his wife shake the door and the glass break and that he would make good the damage.

Mr. Cramer informed them that he was satisfied to him. He told them that they were in enough trouble and he did not care to make more for them as long as the broken glass was replaced.

Fire in Her Cell

A wisp of smoke came curling down the corridor at the county court house Thursday night and was detected by Night Jailor Lyman Ellis. A firm believer in the old adage that where there is smoke there is fire, Mr. Ellisworth dashed into the jail where he found the cause of trouble. He found that Elizabeth Hendrickson, who had been brought to jail by the city police earlier in the evening on a charge of having been driving while under the influence of liquor, had in some mysterious manner set fire to the mattress in the cell.

Before the fire was discovered a large hole had been burned in two mattresses destroying them. The burning mattress sent out huge clouds of smoke which filtered through the building.

When Mrs. Hendrickson was brought to jail with her husband, who was likewise charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, the usual search of the prisoners was made. All matches and smoking material were removed from their possession before they were admitted to jail but apparently a match was overlooked on the person of Mrs. Hendrickson.

While there was a considerable amount of excitement it was not necessary to summon the fire department and the fire was quickly extinguished. The damage was confined to two mattresses.

First Public Appearance

Caston, N. Y., April 19 (AP).—Making his initial public address since Governor Lehman appointed him state commissioner of agriculture and markets, Peter G. Marlborough Boy Lacking Esophagus Returns Home

Newburgh, N. Y., April 19 (AP).—Tiny Robert Earl Linsig—the only child in recent medical history to live more than two weeks without an esophagus, leaves St. Luke's hospital today for his parents' home in nearby Marlborough.

Robert, born two months and two days ago, weighs eight and one-half pounds and has been kept alive by forced feeding through a tube inserted in his stomach.

Dr. W. Barton Harris, the Lausig family physician, said today the child would have to have all his food through the stomach tube for the next seven years.

"The child is normal in every way except for the lack of an esophagus," he said. "He should thrive and grow though all his food will have to be inserted through the tube in his stomach."

"He has proven himself normal and happy and particularly adaptable to the unusual conditions under which he has been forced to take his food."

"At present, a funnel is used and his milk formula is poured into the stomach. Care must be taken so that the feeding will not be too fast."

Later, when he is scheduled to get more solid food it will have to be ground up and poured into the stomach in the same manner.

When Robert is seven years old, physicians plan to construct an artificial esophagus, running from the throat to the stomach so that he can be fed normally.

"This experiment has been attempted before," said Dr. Harris, "but never very successfully. Of course we can not say what the results will be in this case. We can only hope for the best."

No Pay Checks For 650 Men Employed On County Relief Work

Some 650 men employed through-out Ulster county on work relief projects will not receive their customary pay checks this Saturday, according to a statement made this afternoon by A. I. F. Deyo, head of the county Emergency Work Bureau.

There is a total pay-roll amounting to $6,432.94, for the week ending April 18, and checks on this account are due Saturday, April 20.

Mr. Deyo said that the state's share of this amount had been received, but the county's share was not available. He said that his office would issue the checks as soon as they were notified by the county treasurer that the county had funds on hand to meet them. He understood that that would probably be after the board of supervisors had met and provided the necessary funds.

County Treasurer Pratt Boice, when seen this afternoon, said that funds on hand, available for paying these work relief checks, were considerably less than the amount required to meet the payroll. He expressed great regret that such a situation existed, but said that it was one that was beyond his power to remedy. Mr. Boice added that nothing could be done by his office and the board of supervisors had met and made provisions for replenishing the funds in the county treasury.

Find Body of Slain Man

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 19 (AP).—The body of a slain man was discovered today in a gutter where police said, two other apparent victims of gang violence have been dumped in the last four years. The body was discovered by a patrolman in a neighborhood of garages and machine shops which, because it is desolate at night, police believe has become a favored dumping grounds for "side" victims. The man had been shot twice in the head. About thirty feet from where he was found a .32 calibre revolver had been tossed with two shells discharged.

IN LOUISIANA

Enacts Legislation To Place Expenditure of Federal Work Funds Under State Supervision.

Washington, April 19 (AP).—The administration of relief funds in Georgia—whose governor yesterday said President Roosevelt was a radical and predicted a third party in 1936—was taken over completely today by the Federal government.

Announcement was made by Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, whose relations with Governor Eugene Talmadge of President Roosevelt's "other state" have been somewhat strained.

He recently took over Federal relief activities in Louisiana. Earlier, similar action had been taken in Ohio following charges of a "political shakedown."

Hopkins' announcement today followed an assertion yesterday by Secretary Ickes that Senator Long (D-La.) had "hallucinated the intellect" and that he did not "know how to do business" with Talmadge.

A year ago Hopkins assumed a large share of control over Georgia relief by forcing dissolution of the state relief board appointed by Talmadge. Talmadge remained the state's representative in applying for relief grants. Now he is stripped of all control.

Hopkins named Miss Gay B. Shepperson, present state relief administrator, as head of the new federal set-up.

No funds have been granted Georgia for April relief because it had not complied with Hopkins demand that it increase its contributions.

Hopkins announced that after June 1 no federal funds would be given for direct relief in Georgia, which he said "will become the responsibility of the state and local governments."

Relief officials said April funds would be made available.

Hopkins had called on Georgia to contribute $3,000,000 to relief during 1935, but the state legislature adjourned without making a relief appropriation.

Yesterday, Hopkins said Talmadge, one of his most frequent critics, had not attempted to secure the appropriation.

Simultaneously, Hopkins granted Georgia $1,700,000 for April relief. State Supervision.

Senator Rouse, La., April 19 (AP).—The Louisiana legislature today, at Senator Huey P. Long's orders, threw down the gauntlet to the federal government in the senator's PWA fund control fight by finally enacting legislation to place expenditure of federal work funds under state supervision.

The general assembly's endorsement of Long's insistence that Louisiana's cities and parishes shall be responsible to the state for projects on which PWA funds are spent was written when the senate passed house legislation carrying into effect the senator's wishes. The vote was 29 to 10.

Since secretary of the interior Harold I. Ickes recently declared that, if the legislation passed, Louisiana PWA grants would be stopped, the action of the lawmakers amounted to a crossing of the Rubicon for Long in his wrangle with Washington over who will handle Louisiana's share of work funds from the $4,500,000,000 relief act.

RAIN BRINGS JOY TO WESTERN DUST BELT

Amarillo, Tex., April 19 (AP).—Rain brought joy and renewed hope to the southern edge of the dust belt today.

Downpours and heavy showers visited a wide area in the dust-belt Texas panhandle yesterday and last night, benedicting the wheat crop and crazing lands, in addition to bringing relief from the blowing sand and dirt.

The Oklahoma panhandle, where the residents have prayed for rain, reported only clouds, however, and the dust-stricken sections of Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico still waited for moisture.

The precipitation near Childress, Tex., amounted to about two inches, and at Quanah two inches of rain fell in less than 24 minutes. A cloudburst flooded cells at Fredericksburg, Tex., and there were soaking rains at other points in the state.

While the dust storms abated somewhat over the rest of the stricken sector, emergency hospitals were opened in Barta county, Colorado, to care for patients.

Kearney Arraigned

Luther Kearney of Birmingham, arrested by Trooper Reilly on a charge of reckless driving, as the result of a collision between his car and that of Sheldon William Hill of Saurterville Wednesday night, was arraigned before Justice Walter Weber at Lake Katrine Wednesday afternoon. The case was set down for a hearing Tuesday, April 22. Kearney being released under $50 cash bail.

HOPEFUL GIRL "GRADS" LEAVE BRIDE'S SCHOOL

Dairen, Manchuria (P)—A school for brides here has just turned out 19 young Japanese women, who, armed with diplomas, are now busily looking for husbands on whom to practice their newly acquired theories as to how to make husbands happy.

Styling itself "The School of Life," the institution was started early last year by local women's clubs, aided by the South Manchuria Railway Company. Like most college graduates, the school's first crop of alumnae are "looking for jobs."

Rike Military Camp Quota San Antonio, Tex. (P)—The U. S. T. C. quota for the eighth corps area, set at 1,100 earlier in the year, has been increased to 2,475. Camps will be operated at Fort Bullis, Tex., Fort Bliss and Fort Logan, Colo., Fort Sill, Okla., and Fort Huachuca, Ariz., during July and August.

300 to 1 At Best New York—More than 1,500 Brooklyn lawyers are seeking five additional jobs as assistants on the staff of William F. X. Geoghan, Kings county district attorney. The legislature enacted a bill providing for the positions, but Governor Lehman has not yet signed it.

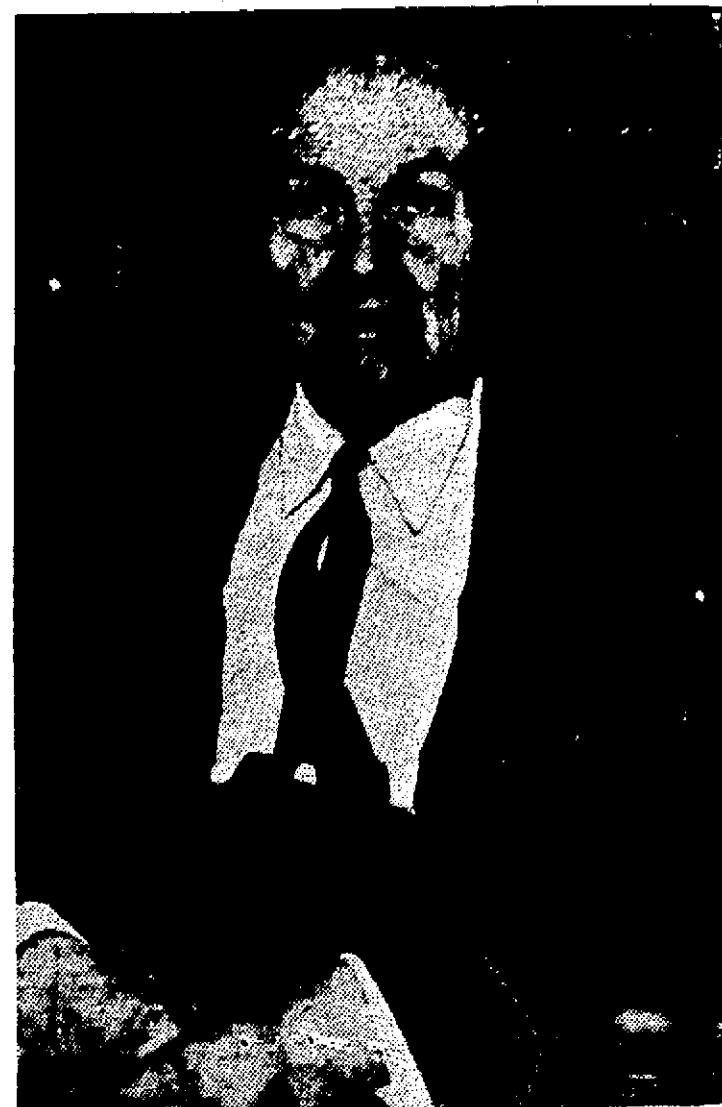

Something Lacking Sharon, Pa.—A little experience in interior decorating might have helped the men who burglarized the Flacus paint and wall paper store. They made off with 500 rolls of paper—all for ceilings. A big stock of sidewall and border designs was untouched.

Modest With a Reason Burlington, N. J.—Robert Moore, 3, is a modest hero. He succeeded in concealing two rescues of boys who fell in the Delaware river and almost kept secret the third when he brought 3-year-old Richard Quinn to safety. "Don't tell mom," said Robert. "I'm afraid she won't let me go to the river any more if you do."

Charming—Pleasant Chicago—Four minute kisses have the approval of three noted Chicago jurists. Judge Joseph Sabath, veteran divorce court arbiter, said: "The longer the kisses, the fewer divorces." Judge Joseph B. David asserted: "Four minutes? OK if you're in a hurry." Judge Rudolph Desort, who also has presided at many divorce trials, echoed with "harmless, charming—pleasant."

Great-Great Grandmother at 72 Norfolk, Va. (P)—Although only 72, Mrs. L. V. Gregory is a great-great grandmother.

DARROW MARKS 78TH BIRTHDAY

Clarence Darrow is shown in his Chicago home as he looked back on a half century's experience as a noted criminal lawyer and, on his 78th birthday, selected the murder trial of "Big Bill" Haywood as his "most interesting case." Haywood and others were charged with hiring the assassination of an Idaho governor, and U. S. Senator Borah opposed Darrow. (Associated Press Photo)

BLOOD FROM A TURNIP?

Without any reflection on the organizations at present running drives for funds or on any of those who have solicited money during the past year, the thought comes to mind that there are too many drives running each year that business houses and individuals are forced to contribute much more than they are able to with comfort, and that with as many as three or four drives running at the same time, something should be done to alleviate this situation without seriously hindering the work of any of the organizations.

The continued appeals of solicitors, quite often the same men and women who are forced through circumstances to accept positions on teams seeking funds; and the work of these people in going from drive to drive and requesting contributions from the same business places and individuals, is something that neither should have to face. Moreover there is noticeable overlapping of work done by some of these organizations and funds thus raised might better be spent in a different way.

The solution to the entire affair is of course the Community Chest, which allows one gigantic drive and then the solicitors' troubles are over, and with them the merchant and individual may have a sigh of relief knowing that tomorrow he will not again be approached for a handout.
 In the past there have been attempts to form a Community Chest which have failed primarily through the dissension of both contributors and those who receive the funds.
 Yet in other places these chests have worked out with marked success with a little education and understanding.

Such a chest must necessarily be a failure when organizations "pad" their budgets in an attempt to get more than their share. Likewise the contributors often cause the failure of such a project by saying that "under no circumstances will I contribute to this chest when some of my contribution may be used to aid organization A when I want it to go to organization B." Although assured that such a wish would be respected the contributor often uses this excuse to refuse a substantial gift and the whole thing falls through because the desired sum is not raised for distribution.

However a committee could be appointed: the requests of all worthy organizations could be ascertained through their operating budgets in the past several years; contributors could be assured that their desires would be respected; and a Community Chest could be a success in Kingston with a little work and cooperation.

The continued avalanche of drives is gradually draining the funds of Kingstonites and with it the desire to contribute. Such must necessarily be the case when approaches are made each day and a never ending line of "causes" is presented demanding funds. There is just so much money to be had, after which the contributor, a little tired from constant requests is going to say, "you can't get blood from a turnip," and he isn't going to care much one way or another either.

MEXICO STADIES DOWN

Americans fearful of radical constitutions next door may be reassured by word from Mexico that the Cardenas government is shifting to the right. Business and government there have been harassed by the oil, electric and street car strikes. Resider these direct blows to vital industries, there have been sympathetic strikes of various kinds throughout the country. Here in the states we have had many threats of disastrous strikes, but few of them have been allowed to occur. The Mexican government seems to intend, from now on, a more earnest intervention in labor disputes, somewhat in the manner of our own government.

President Cardenas and his elder son, who belong to the National Revolutionary Party, with its slogan, plan-and have been considered party radical, take pains to deny any leaning toward Communism. Americans would consider them rather Socialistic. They seem sincere, however, in their present efforts to give a square deal to both capital and labor, preventing aggression on one side and political strikes and walk-outs on the other. With such a policy Mexico should prosper.

BRAIN CURRENTS

Though evidently is electrical, or at least, there is electricity connected with thought. Experiments made by biologists at Harvard show a definite electric current in the living brain.
 A circuit was made by connecting a fine wire with two small needles which served as poles, one in the scalp and the other in the ear lobe.
 A recording device was connected with the circuit, with an amplifier to step up the tiny brain current.
 When the subject of the experiment was sitting quietly, at rest in body and mind, the current registered itself with a pen, in a regular wave pattern. When he was engaged in working out a mental arithmetical problem, or otherwise thinking intently about anything, the line smoothed out, showing a strengthening of the current. Currents were registered also when the electrodes were placed in muscles.

This need not surprise anyone who has read much of recent discoveries in biology and electricity. It has been demonstrated that any living cell is an electric battery. Scientists seem to be agreeing more and more with H. P. Blavatsky, an "occultist", who was maintaining 50 years ago that life and matter are electric. The physicists today say matter and energy are one, and resolve matter into electrons, or charges of electricity.
 If the mind, though, can exist apparently from the brain, is it still electrical? That's another question.

PAIN UNDER BREAST BONE

While most pains in the region of the breast bone are due to gas pressure usually in the stomach but sometimes in the large intestine, there are some pains that should be investigated because they are due to something more than gas pressure.

These "other" pains may be due to a blocking or partial blocking of the little blood vessels supplying the muscular wall of the heart.
 Thus at a clinic held in Philadelphia at the International Post-graduate Medical Assembly last year, Prof. James H. Means, Harvard, presented the following case:

Patient taken suddenly with severe pain under breast bone, a "squeezing" pain that remained in the same spot; no vomiting. His stomach was washed out, pain was relieved and he was at work the next day. After three years of hard work he had another attack coming on suddenly. He was taken to a hospital, where they gave him an enema which seemed to help him.

The trouble both times in Prof.
 Means' opinion was due to a partial blocking of the little blood vessel supplying the heart. The treatment recommended was six to eight weeks in bed in order to give nature a chance.

What is known as angina pectoris or breast-pain gives this pain under the breast bone, which causes the patient to stop in his tracks until the pain passes away. He has the feeling that any movement whatever will cause death.

This pain is due to the fact that the little blood vessel, mentioned above, that carries blood to the heart, may have a spasm causing a partial closing so that enough blood can not get through to nourish the heart muscle properly or the pain may be due to the fact that the blood itself hasn't enough oxygen in it to make the heart muscle work properly.

The thought then is that a "squeezing" pain that stays under the breast bone, with no indigestion or vomiting, or a pain under the breast bone that is like a vice, and that prevents any desire or willingness to move may be due to a temporary "plugging," or to a spasm of the blood vessel nourishing the heart.

Remember also that appendicitis pain usually begins in the stomach but later shifts down to lower right side.
 So while most stomach pains are harmless and due to gas pressure, there are other conditions which will be kept in mind also.

COTTERILL

Cotterill, April 18.—The Easter celebration by the members of the Cotterill Sunday school classes will be given in the church hall Friday evening, April 19, at 8 o'clock.
 Everyone is welcome.

GREAT RICHES

ST. LOUIS. The Great War has ended and the world is at its credit.
 It ended as it should have ended.
 When James and Jane Stinson who should have been going to each other and it took James out of New Concord, Mo., not when he was leaving to fight his country to succeed. Now he has returned a man with a man's which he is proud and has marched with his men in a great parade at St. Louis.

Chapter 41

HOME TO JANE

TWO weeks later James was mustered out and came home in earnest. It was probably the proudest hour of his life, when he limped up Commercial Street at the head of the men of his county and New Concord cheered itself hoarse.
 New Concord was his own beloved town once more. He had not failed her when his moment called.

When "the General" returned home Nappy was so immensely relieved and so blissfully happy that he was for once almost speechless. All he could say was "Dawg gone! Dawg gone!" over and over while tears ran shamelessly down his face. It was noticed in New Concord that Nappy thereafter limped a little when he walked. He was never able to walk quite straight again any more than was James.

Jane had not been idle during James' absence. With a husband at the front Jane's sharp speeches of the past were tolerated and forgotten.

Jane helped organize and run the New Concord chapter of the Red Cross, helped sell Liberty Bonds, helped raise money for home relief,
 for the Y.M.C.A.
 She proved so efficient both as a speaker and as an organizer that her fame spread. She was asked to go to Saint Joseph and make speeches there. She went and remained to help with the Y.M.C.A. hut and canteen at the railway station. Fully occupied at last, her natural energies and undoubted organizing abilities finding for once an outlet, Jane forgot to be earnest, forgot all about her health, became what she was meant to be,
 a happy and efficient youngish woman, even a charming youngish woman. She seldom had time to think of James, but when she did she thought of him kindly, even proudly; that is until she met Mrs.
 Benson.

MRS. BENSON was one of the Wyman of Saint Joseph. So was not only born with a golden spoon in her mouth, but acquired a full golden service on her marriage. Left a widow in 1917 Mrs.
 Benson decided to forget her grief in "service."

A cousin in New York suggested that she "man" a fully equipped ambulance with women nurses, women doctors, women drivers and place it at the disposal of the French government. The suggestion was accepted. Mrs. Benson, meeting Jane and taking a great fancy to her, asked her to go with the ambulance as alternate driver to herself.

Never in her whole life did Jane so passionately want to do anything as much as she wanted to go to France. And she could not. She was not allowed to go because she had a husband there. Nina Butterfield went in her place.

Jane, who seldom cried, cried herself sick. Jane had been glad enough to have James enlist. Now she accused him bitterly of hideous and unforgivable selfishness.

He was a married man. Married men had no right to volunteer until all the unmarried men had been enrolled or conscripted. The way he fairly ran from her to throw himself into the army was a slap at her.
 He had no right, he had no right.

Jane tore the gold star flag she kept in her bedroom to shreds and stamped on it. For once she admitted to herself, openly and unashamed, that she hated James.

In a day or two Jane got bold of herself. A second and larger flag with a gold star still hung over the front steps of the house on Fifth and Oak Streets. When the flag grew stained and the star tarnished, Jane bought a new one and nailed it into place herself.

She did not criticize James outwardly, not even to her mother.
 She did not, for fear of the agitation that might escape and betray her. After a little she grew almost ashamed, almost contrite, for that moment of self-knowledge when she had admitted she hated her husband.

Of course she did not hate James.
 She despised his weakness, his inconsistency. But even though she did not love him she did not hate him.

ACCORD

Accord, April 18.—Mr. and Mrs.
 H. Block are attending the Passover Seder at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
 J. Meekowitz of Metairie, La.
 Among the other guests present were Ida and Beatrice Meekowitz, Mrs. S. Silverman and Mrs. I. Feldall of New York City.

Rehabilitation Smith has recovered from an attack of the grip and is able to be around again.
 Mr. and Mrs. L. Morrison and family of New York City have moved to the former Miller home.
 Mrs. Albert Lawrence and Mrs.
 Pearl Dunham are visiting relatives in Pennsylvania.
 The teachers of Accord school gave the children a party before closing for the Easter vacation.
 Mrs. Schenckman is busy relating the interest of his house.
 Wellington Vought, who has been very ill with quincy some time, is now feeling better.
 J. M. Eppes spent the week-end at home.

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.

April 12, 1915.—Death of Nelson
 M. Brown of St. Remy.
 Patrick J. Dermody, Sr., died at his home on Mary's avenue.
 Work of closing city streets started.

SHOKAN

Shokan, April 18.—Mr. and Mrs.
 Tracy Alexander and baby were callers in the twin villages Sunday. Mr.
 Alexander, a native of Olive, is employed near Hudson.

Members of the reservoir forestry force have been trimming out the pine and spruce grove near the west end of the village. The dense thicket of dead branches has been removed, thus adding considerably to the looks of this beautiful grove as viewed from Route 28.

V. H. Stonelifer, a representative of the National League of District Postmasters, was a caller at the local office recently. Mr. Stonelifer is a resident of Washington, D. C.

Arthur Carter, superintendent of the Vanderbent country seat on Toran's Hook, has finished the razing of the William Bogart farmhouse on the place. Many of the boards and timbers in the house were found in good condition and will be used for other purposes. The building was the home of Mrs. Jane Bogart, now in her 83rd year, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. Carter.

Donald and Mary Elliott are no longer pupils at the Shokan school.
 Department of Water Supply employees continue to work in three shifts of eight hours at the screen chamber of the reservoir. Chlorine gas in the amount of 1350 pounds each 24 hours is injected into New York city's drinking water at the aqueduct head.

Perfect attendance records at the Shokan school for March are held by the following pupils: Otto Gross-man, Edward Leyder, Robert Robson, Merrill Wheat, Burtis Wheat, Margaret Grossman, Anna Leyder,
 Annette Robson, Lois Robson, Alva
 Winchell and Velma Personous.
 Those on the school honor roll are:
 Lois Robson, Otto Grossman, Annette Robson, Beatrice Wheat, Alva Winchell, Carmen Lopez, Herbert
 Wells, Charles Personous and Anna Leyder.

Shokan residents awoke Tuesday morning to find the ground covered with snow. Ice has formed here during several nights this week. Tice Ten Eyck, back of the village, shows up white though the snow on this peak apparently is much lighter than in the case on the Wittenberg Range, westward beyond the reservoir.
 Brook trout fishermen return, saying that both weather and water are too cold for this sport and that they are half frozen themselves. Snow squalls are of frequent occurrence and the skunk cabbage in marshy places is barely above ground.

The members of the Shokan Home Bureau met today at the residence in Ashokan of Mrs. Floyd Merrihew, chairman of the bureau, for a study of their second lesson in the current civics project.

A marriage of April 13, 1893, was that of Irving Riesler of Woodstock to Elizabeth Longear of Shokan, the officiating minister being the Rev.
 Harry Cornford, pastor of the Shokan
 M. E. Church. Witnesses to the nuptials were Ida Boice (the late Mrs. Henry Boice) and Cassie Roosa (Mrs. George Terwilliger of Kingston).

Last Sunday a large doe deer, which presumably had been attacked by dogs, was found on the city's preserve near the north boulevard west of the village center. The animal, whose injuries included two broken legs, was put out of its misery by

 Rhode Island Reds in Mr. Marshall's opinion are the best general purpose fowl on account of their early maturing and heavy laying qualities.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER
 WASHINGTON—Republican leaders here are reluctant to talk about it openly, but privately they'll admit they have great hopes for the miniature party conventions scheduled to be held soon.

Republicans of the middle west are to get together in Kansas City presumably some time in May while those of the six New England states may meet even sooner.

Aware of the fact that too much ballyhoo over such meetings frequently results in their not measuring up to expectations, the G. O. P. high command is doing little public predicting. It has high hopes, however, that interest and enthusiasm in the party's future will be stirred and concrete evidence given the country that G. O. P. is far from being "dead."

If these two sectional meetings are successful, republican chiefs believe the idea will be taken up by members of the party in the middle Atlantic and far western states.

Criticism Encouraging

IT WAS to be expected that the republican would show some signs of stirring at this time. With nominating conventions and primaries for presidential preference just a little more than a year away, necessity for some move toward organization for the 1936 campaign is evident.

Then, too, the criticism being leveled of late at the "new deal" and President Roosevelt—some of it from the democrats themselves—

Digging For Wealth

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER TOP NOTCH, the rooster, was very busy. The birds were pretty well settled in their nest homes and were finding plenty to eat. So Top Notch was not bothering so much about his general store.

But he was very busy. He was digging. In fact his white feathers were covered with dirt when Christopher Columbus Crow flew down to see what was happening.

"Why are you digging, Top Notch?"
 "I'm digging for what I can find."
 "But what will you find?" asked Christopher.

"How do I know?" returned Top Notch. "I'm looking for wealth. I may find buried treasure. I may find an oil well which will make me very rich, or I may find gold."

"And you may find nothing at all," cawed Christopher.
 "I hadn't thought of that," said Top Notch. "I thought that if I dug long enough I'd surely find something valuable."

"You've found enough dirt to make yourself look a sight," Top Notch pulled forth his little mirror and looked at himself. He was very much shocked by what he saw.

"I don't believe I'll dig any more,"
 he said. "After all I have my looks to consider. And what is wealth?
 Nothing at all. Absolutely nothing.
 Cackle, cackle."

"Perfectly true," agreed Christopher, as he flew off to his nest in the tree. "Particularly when you don't find it."

But as Top Notch brushed the dirt off his feathers and straightened his comb he said to himself: "Beauty is better than wealth!"

Nile River Floated the

First Boat Built by Man

The Nile river in Egypt is supposed to have floated the first boat ever built, according to a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. There, 3,000 years before Christ, a man learning to swim sat on a floating log and paddled about with his hands. The log was the first ship. Later, perhaps a century or more, two logs were lashed together, making the first raft.
 From such beginnings have come our great ocean greyhounds.

Naturally the first navigators knew nothing of sails for their boats. In fact, all the boats of ancient days were nothing but huge rowboats, where tiers of men were placed, one above the other, with long-handled oars. Even the Phoenicians' boats, which are spoken of in the Bible, depended on man power to move over the water.

Three first ships were thought to be living gods. Instead of building a plain box as we do today on our ships, the first mariners built a large head upon a bow, supposed to protect the boat and the sailors' lives. Later this head, encased in gold or bronze, was used as a battering ram to puncture other ships. The stern of the boat was a huge tail, which curved over the back deck. No doubt when the ship was seen in the distance it did look like a man with arms crawling along with its rows of oars for legs and the big curved tail and head standing high above the rest of the ship.

Believing that unless the ship had eyes it would become lost, the ancients also painted eyes on each side of the bow. And, strange as it may seem, we still have eyes on our ships in the form of lower bows for the anchor cables.

Religion of the Eskimos

A statement about the Eskimo religion can scarcely be brief and clear without being misleading. It is not far wrong, however, to say that the idea of worship as Christians understand it is rudimentary or absent. Like most highly civilized people, the Eskimos are of course confused in their religious thinking. Different answers and confused answers come from the most thoughtful and best informed members of the same community.

Federal Government Seeks to Whip States Into Line on Relief

Washington, April 19 (AP)—Using a potent weapon—stoppage of federal funds—the federal government was embarked today on an intensified effort to force into line states whose relief or works measures are declared to be unsatisfactory.

After striking at Senator Long of Louisiana and Governor Talmadge of Georgia by checking the flow of federal funds into their states, officials threatened also to cut off relief grants wherever states and communities fail to contribute what is considered an adequate amount toward a $563,000,000 fund to support unemployed persons during the next 12 months. This fund is sought to supplement the government's $4,000,000,000 work relief appropriation.

Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, gave notice as well that he might take the distribution of relief into his own hands in several states where he says politicians have too much connection with it at present.

As the Louisiana legislature yesterday advanced Long's bill to give a state board supervision over federal expenditures, and Governor Talmadge attacked President Roosevelt as an "extreme radical," Hopkins and Secretary Ickes moved together against them.

Ickes, asserting Long has "hallucinations of the intellect" and that he does not know how to do business with Talmadge, held up four public works projects in Louisiana and canceled as many in Georgia.

Hopkins disclosed he had placed a man of his own choosing in charge of Louisiana relief, and accused the Georgia governor of having failed to make a "real effort to keep public schools open in his state."

Long, who like Talmadge is a vehement critic of New Deal measures, retorted last night with a statement in Baton Rouge likening President Roosevelt to a king and Ickes to a jackass.

"The king and his Ickes are both dead and won't lie down," he said. "It will take a funeral and that's all over but the singing."

Talmadge, who contended in the early days of the New Deal that Hopkins was luring workers away from normal employment by CWA wage rates, aimed his strongest criticism at the administration yesterday. He said there would be a third party in the 1936 campaign and that the New Deal government would end within a year and a half.

Spencer's Students Secure Positions

Miss Frances Palmer, an honor graduate of the Secretarial Science department of Spencer's Business School, has been placed in a permanent position as stenographer and office assistant with the G. W. Van Slyke & Horton cigar manufacturers.

Miss Ruth Martin, also a student of the Secretarial Science department of Spencer's Business School, has been placed in a position as stenographer and bookkeeper with Van Kleeck Motor and Garage, dealers for the De Soto and Plymouth automobiles.

Miss Alva Elston, another member of the Secretarial Science department, has been placed in a position as stenographer and office assistant with the Kingston Hospital.

Miss Janet Goodell, an honor student of the Secretarial Science class of '35, has been placed in a position as secretary to C. C. Rickerson, manager of the Minnewaska Mountain Houses, Minnewaska, N. Y. This makes the second young lady from Spencer's Business School to secure a position with this well-known resort.

Miss Phyllis Eastman, also an honor student of the Secretarial Science department of Spencer's Business School, has been placed in a position as stenographer and office assistant with Dr. J. A. Comstock, dentist and dental surgeon, with offices in the Woolworth Building, Wall street.

TREE-SITTING CATS MAKE LIFE HARD FOR FIREMEN

Dubuque, Ia. (AP)—Dubuque, it seems, has a large number of professional tree-sitting cats with no regard for the feelings of Fire Chief "Bill" Ryan.

With a good assortment of small birds who manage to get caught in trees, they combine to make life in general quite miserable for the chief and his fire fighting laddies.

Right now, the chief doesn't know whether he has a fire department or a cat and bird rescue bureau, so frequent are the calls to extricate animals from precarious tree perches.

To settle the question, he has notified the citizenry to direct rescue calls to the humane society and let his fire eaters alone so they can take their one hook and ladder company to fires when the need arises.

French Feminine Ears Deaf To Clarions Of Suffragettes

By ADELAIDE KERR

Paris (AP)—French suffragettes have won a new victory in the struggle for women's votes, which, in France, more than any other country, is a battle of the sexes.

On the surface what has happened is that the chamber of deputies has passed a bill granting women the right to vote in all elections and that it must be approved by the senate which, however, has three times rejected or eluded voting on similar measures.

But the "low down" on that feminine franchise fight is the tale of a situation typical of the country and as old as Adam and Eve.

Women Deal Bosses

The French woman is one of the most glib in the world. She may not be pretty, she may not have a university degree, she may not have traveled far—outside France. But the jewel in her crown is her belief that she "knows how to handle her man." That fact has kept her by the hundreds of thousands from really wanting to vote.

Many French women, in fact, consider the idea of suffrage an affront to their feminine technique. This, plus their indifference to anything outside their friends, home and work (if they have it) has been one of the biggest stumbling blocks in the path of the suffragettes.

The feminists point out that French women have no right to get a passport, have their own bank accounts (unless they are engaged in another business than their husbands') or sell their own real estate without their husbands' consent.

But, they say, many women are indifferent to all that because they scarcely are aware of the stringent laws. Their husbands provide for them and the households move along in content.

Talk Brings Recruits

On the other side of the fence are the suffragettes—an army which is growing consistently stronger and battling increasingly harder. Members of some of the most aristocratic families in France are leading the movement, thousands of professional women have joined the fray, along with clerks, stenographers and some housewives.

Nearly every canvass of women brings more votes in favor of feminine franchise and many men of political prominence are lining up in its favor.

Ancient Builders' Jokes

Were Revealed in Stone

The builders of the old churches in England were not so serious, but that they now and then perpetrated a joke even in stone. On more than one of their creations, notes a writer in the Montreal Herald, they carved in relief a scene representing a monk preaching solemnly to a flock of geese. The same humorous spirit is sometimes to be detected in the domestic architecture of early times.

Just upon the boundaries of Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire formerly stood an old rambling farmhouse. The living room was long and low, and on the center that went across the ceiling was inscribed this legend: "If you are cold, go to Hertfordshire."

This seemingly inhospitable invitation was explained by the fact that one-half of the room was in one county and one-half in the other. The fire place was in Hertfordshire.

The Famous Ole Bull

Ole Bornemann Bull was born in Bergen, Norway, February 5, 1810. In childhood he developed a fondness for music, especially the violin, and upon a visit to Paris heard and was encouraged by Paganini. He first appeared on the concert stage with Ernst and Chopin and before long his fame spread over Europe.

New Locust Spray Tested for War On African Pest

Capetown (AP)—South Africa has just experienced its worst locust year, government experts announcing that never before has such damage been wrought by the plague that troubled Pharaoh. It is costing Africa $50,000,000 yearly in extermination expenses.

One ray of hope is emerging in a new formula for locust poison by Dr. Reginald R. Etches. It has been undergoing months of tests by government entomologists, chemists and veterinary surgeons at the state laboratories at Onderstepoort, Transvaal.

Reports are that the test prove the new poison is fatal to locusts but harmless to humans and stock—the danger and drawback applying to the poison previously used, arsenite of soda.

One gallon of the new poison can spray half an acre and kill 5,000,000 "voetganger" or hopper locusts. It costs one cent a gallon.

The price of $2,500,000 is being asked from the government for the formula.

Of course just telling the truth can sometimes get you into trouble, but think what pickle you are apt to get in when you tell lies.

Luster to British CrownLondon (P)—New gems soon may adorn the crown of Britain's king-emperor, enriching the royal emblem already ablaze with 2,783 diamonds, 277 pearls, 17 sapphires, 11 emeralds and five rubies. The stones include the Black Prince's ruby, worn by Henry V at Agincourt.Plans now under way call for each of Britain's dominions and crown colonies to send precious metals and gems as gifts to King George on the occasion of his majesty's silver jubilee this spring.Gold ore will come from Canada and Australia, platinum from New Zealand, diamonds from South Africa, emeralds and sapphires and more diamonds from India, rubies from Burma, and aquamarines from Ceylon.Out of all this treasure, it is proposed, new additions will be grafted on the imperial state crown, whichwas assembled under commission by Queen Victoria in the long ago of 1838—the year after her accession to the throne.The new jewels, if the plan works out, will join the dazzling company of the Stuart sapphire from the crown of Charles II, the pearl eardrops of Queen Elizabeth, and the second largest piece of the famous Star of Africa diamond.The imperial state crown, regarded as the most beautiful and valuable in the world, is one of the king's three crowns—the other two being the sacred crown of Edward the Confessor, and the Imperial crown of India, which has been used only once, at the Delhi durbar of 1911.The schools, Boy and Girl Scout organizations, 4-H Clubs, Farm Bureaus, Garden Clubs, Chambers of Commerce and other organizations interested in the preservation of the state's natural resources will take an active part in many celebrations to be held during the year. Arbor Day, when thoughts turn to tree planting, will be more generally celebrated by the schools than ever before.Information about
"INFORMATION"It takes an "Information" force of 1,644 people throughout the state to handle the daily average of 280,000 requests from telephone users for "Information."Incidentally, each business day "Information" has to tell some 23,000 people that the parties they want have no telephones.
Think of what these 23,000 undelivered messages represent! Important news, invitations, business opportunities—all lost for lack of a telephone. Yet a home telephone costs less than three nickels a day.

BEER ON TAP.Pursang Ideal Tonic for Skinny, Cranky ChildrenMarvelous New Tonic Revitalizes the Blood and Energizes "Run Down" Systems*

If your children are skinny and underweight, cranky and whiny, maybe it is because they are anemic and run down. Growing up takes terrific energy. The wear and tear of the years weakens resistance. The blood gets thin. It no longer performs its proper functions. Tonic in it pour into the system. Is it any wonder that nine people out of ten feel "half sick" all the time?

If your children look run down or you yourself feel below par, why not try the Pursang treatment for awhile? Pursang every day before or after meals.

You mustn't expect instant results with Pursang, but it is the experience of many people that before the first bottle is exhausted they feel a material improvement in health. The eyes are clearer, there is a new sense of energy. None of that "all in," "let down" feeling by three o'clock in the afternoon. Pursang stimulates the body, builds rich, red, healthy blood corpuscles, helps to maintain the essential balance of white and red corpuscles and tones up the entire system.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS and SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Tullio Carminati is one of those actors who won't sign a long-term contract for pictures unless he is given some voice in selecting stories. His refusal to sign one of the usual kind, which lets a studio do the picking, has cost him money, he says, but he is content to go along as he is, taking a part when he likes it.

And if you think Carminati, who became a starring attraction after "One Night of Love," does not take his art seriously, hear his description of the way he goes about deciding:

"I cannot make up my mind instantly when I am handed a script," he says in that accented voice which helped him make his hit. "No, I take it home with me, and read it. Then I lay it aside, think about it. I try to decide first if I think it is a good play—this I do before I consider my part in it. I get the effect, the total effect of it. Then the next night I read it again, and think about it some more. Finally, if I have decided that it is good and that I can play the part honestly and sincerely, then I will say to the producer, 'Yes, I will do it.'"

Won't Make Tests

But he will not make a test for the part. He did not make a screen test when Joseph Schenck brought him to Hollywood for "Moulin Rouge," or for "Gallant Lady," "One Night of Love," "Let's Live Tonight," or "Paris in Spring," these being the first films about which he said to the producer, "Yes, I will do it."

He has constitutional objections to tests. Why should he make one, he asked Schenck, when they had seen him on the stage, knew what he could do? Why should he make tests for other pictures, when the directors could see him on the screen in his previous films?

Surprised By Ocean

Tullio likes Hollywood better this time than he did when he was here in the silent days. Partly, he admits, it is because he has been more successful in talkies.

"But then the actor had nothing to do but make faces. He could not give his whole personality," he explains. "From the moment I arrived on the talking picture set, I was interested—and I should have been interested even though the public had not been so kind. Even now I am always amazed by the technical details in making pictures. I shall never forget my surprise at a preview when a scene showed Lillian Harvey and me on a boat in the ocean. I knew we were supposed to be on a boat, but at the studio there was no water. On the screen we were surrounded by water—an amazing process in creating such an illusion. Is it not?"

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "Little Colonel." Shirley Temple proves to be a master at the art of tap dancing during the course of this delightful picture, as it tells the story of a child's ability to reconcile her mother and grandfather who have been estranged for years. In fact, little Miss Temple shines in every department and the entire show is one of the most enjoyable offerings to come out of the Hollywood film shops in months. There is a good measure of tart humor in this talkie, and the acting is far above the average because of the excellence of the players. The scenes are laid in the south of 1870 and the warmth and hospitality of the old south are gloriously pictured. Bill Robinson, the famous tap dancing artist, almost snatches the picture with an unusually agreeable performance, and little Miss Temple's imitation of his dancing is one of the high spots of the picture. Lionel Barrymore is excellent as always in the role of the grumpy grandfather and John Lodge and Evelyn Venable are also well cast. The production was directed by David Butler.

Orpheum: "Ready for Love" and "Fighting Trooper." A good cast of Paramount's veteran troopers makes the first offering amusing and entertaining film fare. It's all about a newspaper owner who mistakes a young woman for the innamorata of the town's leading citizen. Richard Arlen, Ida Lupino, Marjorie Rambeau and Trent Durkin are among the featured players. "Fighting Trooper" is a fast paced action drama with Ken Maynard.

Kingston: "The Perfect Clue" and "The Silver Streak." Mystery shrouds the opening attraction, for death strikes and leaves a peculiar clue to work out the murderer behind the crime. Most of the play is a grim search for reasons and methods behind the crime but there are a few bright moments with the ever cheerful Skeets Gallagher playing one of his most engaging parts. David Manners and Betty Blythe are also in the cast. "Silver Streak" glorifies the new stream lined train as it dashes across the country in a melodramatic setting. In a race against death, for it must reach Boulder Dam in order to avert a tragedy. Charles Starrett, Sally Blaine, Hardie Albright, William Farnum and Edgar Kennedy are in the cast.

Tomorrow

Broadway: "Naughty Marietta." A new and radical departure from the ordinary motion picture musical takes place in this elaborate production, for it is filled with excitement, soldiers, pirates, Indians, battles, in fact everything one usually associates with thrills and danger. And to top it all, the show has without question two of the finest singing voices ever recorded on a sound track, the talented and beautiful Jeannette MacDonald and the equally talented and likable Nelson Eddy, fresh from the legitimate stage. Together they sing their way through one of the most colorful and tuneful of all the Victor Herbert operettas, supported by a cast of hundreds of players and well planned sets. Much of the production's success lies in the brilliance of Director W. S. Van Dyke, and the musical direction of Herbert Stothart is also helpful. It's about a French princess about to be forced into an unhappy marriage who escapes to the new America and falls in love with a young captain. The plot isn't anything novel but Director Van Dyke, who also made the famous "Thin Man," supplies the adventure in such quantity and skill that the entire film fairly bristles with action. This, plus the really beautiful singing, makes the picture of rare entertainment value, the best picture of its kind to ever grace the screen. "Naughty Marietta" is don't miss entertainment.

Orpheum: Same.
Kingston: Same.

Guild Topic Put Aside by Editors

Washington, April 19 (AP).—The guild movement for newspapermen appeared today unlikely to be discussed at the convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

the question of a stand on the guild was referred at last year's convention, have decided to take no action. It was learned.

value of pictures in newspapers and other shop problems. At their initial session yesterday the hundred editors present appeared to agree that news should be interesting as well as important. William Allen White, Kansas editor, said it was up to the individual editor to determine whether to print "interesting" or "important" news. He said every newspaper eventually reflects the "honesty, courage and intelligence of its publisher."

Eyebot cotton in navy and white lends its sheer fresh quality to this most attractive dress with jacket. See small view! The revers collar of white pique is accented by a soft navy blue taffeta bow. It's an ideal model to slim your figure. It's easily made.

Style No. 3174 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48-inches bust. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 39-inch material with 1/4 yard 35-inch contrasting for dress.

Y. W. Girl Reserves To Stage "Show Boat"

The annual circus staged by the girl reserves of the Y. W. C. A. will be presented in the form of a stage production, "Show Boat," on Saturday afternoon, May 4, at 2:30 p. m. In order that there be no difficulty for the large audience to see the affair, all action this year will take place on the stage.

Thus far 280 younger members of the Girl Reserves have signed up to take part, and rehearsals are being conducted daily under the direction of Miss Ottilia Riccoboni.

The production opens with the mooring of the "Show Boat" and the program shows the various dances and music numbers given by the "cast" of the "boat." To bring the play up to date, the ship "Lollypop" also anchors along side, with little colonels and a group of familiar characters on board. Even some of the "animals" that have endeared themselves by appearing each year in the circus, will be featured in the carnival scene of the "Show Boat." All next week the various groups will be busy with extra rehearsals in preparation for the affair, the schedule being as follows:

Monday—1 p. m., Drum Majors; 1:30 p. m., Minuet; 2 p. m., Maids and Stewards; 2:30 p. m., Milk Maids.

Tuesday—2 p. m., Captains; 2:30 p. m., Ballet; 3 p. m., Flora Dora Girls and Flying Trapeze; 4 p. m., Frankfurters and Chair Dance.

Wednesday—1:30 p. m., Continental number; 2:30 p. m., Collegiate; 3:30 p. m., basketball girls.

Thursday—2 p. m., Lollypop Sailors; 2:30 p. m., Little Colonels; 3 p. m., Rocking horses; 3:30 p. m., Cheerio number.

Friday—Extra rehearsals, to be announced. Saturday—10 a. m., Lollypop Sailors; 10:30 a. m., Little Colonels; 11 a. m., Rocking Horses.

The Rev. Mr. A. W. Altenberg, pastor at Hutchinson, Kas., prepares copies of each sermon for those in his flock who do not hear well.

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

Pattern No. 1639-B

Chic One-Piece Frock of Printed Silk

Women who are interested in accomplishing their smartness without fuss or bother will adore this little model. It is fashioned from a few interesting yards of material and a pattern cut in five pieces.

The front and back are both seamed down the center so that the hemline is provided with a graceful flare. At the neckline extension tabs are tied into knots, back and front alike. The effect is modish and has a high, draped quality which shows a new use for bows. Draped shoulders substitute for sleeves, and darts placed in groups around the waist supply all that is necessary in the way of fitting. The belt is faced with the same sharp contrast that makes the neck bows so smart and attractive. It is cut long and straight and twists around the figure twice.

This model is so smart it can be made in the plainest material. Silk print is the perfect fabric for it with bright solid contrast facing the bows.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1639-B is designed in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20; 40 and 42. Corresponding bust measurements 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 (34) requires 3 1/2 yards of 39 inch material; 3/4 yd of 39 inch contrast for neck and belt facings.

Tomorrow: Smart house-frock for matronly figures.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

In planning wardrobes for warm-er weather, sheer, crisp fabrics are first choice and in the delicate pastel tints they look as cool as they really are. Such tints as aqua blue, lime green, cameo pink, wistaria lavender and lemon yellow are smart. The tendency is for crisp fabrics with much use of ruffles and ruffles in semi-dressy and formal fashions. The jacket dress sketched above clearly indicates the popularity of the yellow for summer. This model uses crisp mousseline de sole in a lemon color with self pleating for the featured trimming. A wrist-length jacket accompanies the one-piece floor-length dress with its square neckline and low V-back decolletage. A large bunch of orange and yellow posies trims it charmingly. This is truly a very feminine ensemble which places it at the head of the line in fashion's favor. Crispness, fullness, flowers, shirring and pleating all help to emphasize the trend back to femininity.

Indictment Dismissed

Assistant District Attorney N. L. Van Haver on Thursday moved in county court for the dismissal of the arson indictment which has been pending in the court against Louis Willard. He filed with the court a written statement as to why the indictment was requested dismissed as is required by the law. The reason he stated was that the defendant had died. An order granting the dismissal was entered.

Household Arts

PATTERN 5150

As warmer weather comes, it is especially pleasant to do handiwork that is easy to carry with you. This star medallion—so simple to make that even a beginner can do it quickly—fills all the requirements. You'll find you can make a quantity of them in one sitting. And you can make such a variety of lovely accessories as chair back sets—dainty scarfs—vanity sets—pillow tops.

In pattern 5150 you will find complete instructions for making the medallion shown and joining it to make a variety of articles: illustrations of all stitches used and of the medallion, and material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y.

Wells Marital Case Postponed a Few Days

Bridgeport, Conn., April 19 (AP).—With the charge of Grant Carveth Wells, the explorer and lecturer, that his first wife, Mrs. Luard T. Wells, wrecked his marital career, still echoing in Superior court here, the $50,000 alienation of affections suit of this Mrs. Wells stood adjourned today until Tuesday.

Supporting his allegation from the witness stand, Wells testified yesterday that wife No. 1, who is suing his present wife, Zetta Robert Wells, beat him twice, reviled, abused, publicly criticized and vilified him even before his own son.

The explorer told a vivid tale of illness in Tarap, Malay Peninsula, where he alleged his first wife deserted him because she "was fed up waiting on an invalid," of attempts at reconciliation in Chicago and other places on the globe, and finally of a divorce from her in Mexico in 1932.

An assertion by Wells that he had never heard of Mrs. Wells No. 2 until he met her in January, 1931, contrary to his first wife's testimony, were substantiated by other witnesses.

The testimony relating to his meeting his present wife was vouched for from the witness stand by Commander Eugene F. MacDonald, Jr., Chicago, himself an explorer of note, who hurried here by airplane to assist Wells.

MacDonald said in testimony preceding that of Wells, that the husband of the defendant was introduced to the second Mrs. Wells in 1931 through a series of letters of his own writing to them both.

This was borne out by James B. Pond, the lecturer's manager, of

Adjourn County Court Until Monday

The county court in Columbia county apparently is just as uncertain as is the Ulster county terms at times: Judge Tracy held two weeks of his April term in Columbia county and then came to Ulster county to hold the April term here, due to illness of Judge Traver. It had been anticipated that two weeks in Columbia county would clear up all of the available cases but Judge Tracy found there was a sudden spurt of ambition among attorneys with cases on the April calendar and when time came for him to come to Ulster county there were many cases remaining which counsel desired and urged to be tried. In order to comply with this sudden ambition to try cases Judge Thorpe of Greene county was invited to preside at the Columbia county term and Judge Tracy came down to Ulster county. Following criminal matters Thursday afternoon in county court here Judge Tracy adjourned the court over the week-end until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Today being Good Friday no court was held, it has been the custom for some time.

Italian Soldiers Can Radio Folks For Lower Rate

Rome (AP)—Premier Mussolini has made special postal and telegraphic arrangements to help his soldiers and militiamen en route for service in East Africa overcome twinges of homesickness.

Soldiers in convoys plowing through the Mediterranean and Red seas can receive radiograms from home at the rate of less than 50 cents for 11 words. Such messages cost the ordinary sender more than $1.50.

Similar advantages for cable and radio communication from home folks to troops in Eritrea and Somaliland are under consideration. So is the question of keeping stamp expenditures to a minimum.

Americans' Ideas Build Up International Bank

By ALEXANDER H. UHL

Basel, Switzerland (AP)—Five years' American management of the world's most unusual financial institution, the Bank for International Settlements, ends in May with the resignation of Leon B. Fraser of New York.

Those years represent the whole history of the bank, for Gates W. McGarrath of New York was elected its first president, served three years and when he retired Fraser became its head.

During the presidency of these two Americans, the world's financial structure has suffered terrific strains but the bank has come through with flying colors and is still paying its regular six per cent dividends.

ENGLISH MINE STRIKERS PAY COSTS OF IDLENESS

Ammanford, England (AP)—Each of 745 miners who went on strike for nine weeks from the Emllyn anthracite collieries here last year, must pay damages of approximately $7 before he can return to work. The $5.215 was assessed by a court after the colliery company had claimed damages which they said represented the cost of maintaining their plant during the strike. The miners struck without notice.

That evolution from its original mission of being the agent for handling Germany's war payments was speeded by the disappearance of reparations through the treaty of Locarno. For a time the blunt question of whether the bank would survive was discussed, but the policy of extending its activities to other fields carried it through.

In May, 1931, the bank reached its peak, its assets totaling 2,126,000,000 Swiss francs, equivalent to $6,888,240,000. Its low point was reached January 31, 1935, when the assets sank to 637,726,167 Swiss francs, or $206,623,278.

Most of the loss was due to the abandonment of the gold standard by Great Britain and the United States, large sums in their currencies having been withdrawn from the bank.

Banker Turns Prophet
"To estimate the direction of our future growth is difficult. One conclusion is clear: that is the increasing interest in the institution, as evidenced by the number of visits from leading bankers and economists from all parts of the world."

"Basel is becoming an international center for practical study of world monetary and credit problems. We believe that the bank's field will expand because of the needs made manifest."

Water Delayed Coaches
Delay of mails in the stage coach days was often caused by rising streams which prevented the coaches from fording. All the driver could do in such cases was sit and wait until the bulge in the river lowered.

SEE UNKNOWN PEAKS IN YUKON FROM AIR

Expedition Makes Important Discoveries in North.

Washington.—New demonstration of the amazing part that airplanes can play in exploring unknown patches of territory that are still left in the world has just reached headquarters of the National Geographic society here in a report from Bradford Washburn, young American explorer of Cambridge, Mass., only a few days after his arrival at his temporary rail base at Carcross, Yukon territory, Canada.

Mr. Washburn, on his way to explore for the society the tangle of mountains in the extreme southwest corner of Yukon territory, which holds the highest unclimbed peaks on the North American continent, made an immediate reconnaissance from the air, and in a flight lasting less than eight hours discovered an immense unknown glacier nearly 50 miles long and established the fact that famous Hubbard glacier, thought to be 30 miles long, is more than double that length. He also discovered a hitherto unknown range of mountains.

Mr. Washburn's report follows:
To Map Unknown Region.

"The monoplane of the National Geographic society piloted by Everett Wasson of Carcross has returned here after successfully establishing the base camp of the expedition near the tongue of an immense unknown glacier descending eastward for nearly 50 miles into the Aisek valley from the peak of Mt. Hubbard, one of the greatest of the unclimbed peaks of the St. Elias range. From the head of this glacier we hope to map a large portion of the hitherto unknown region east of Mt. St. Elias."

"The glacier on which the camp has been located lies some 130 miles west of Carcross and was discovered on a reconnaissance by Wasson, Taylor, Dr. Frank Henderson, eminent geologist of Vancouver, and myself. We flew for a total of seven hours and forty-five minutes reconnoitering over 1,000 square miles of mountainous country in this unmapped area of the Yukon."

"Besides the discovery of the huge glacier system on the east and north slopes of Mt. Hubbard, we were amazed to find that the Hubbard glacier, formerly believed to be less than 30 miles in length and thought to end at the divide between Mt. Hubbard and Mt. Vancouver, actually flows fully 40 miles further into the very heart of the St. Elias range. It grows broader rather than narrower, and finally ends 60 or 70 miles from Yakutat bay at the very base of Mt. Logan."

Find Unknown Mountains.

"Mt. Vancouver appears to be utterly impregnable. It is one of the most amazing mountain masses that I have ever seen, rising to an altitude of nearly 16,000 feet from the flat snow fields of the Hubbard glacier in one gigantic cliff of ice and rock without a single climbable angle."

"Between Mt. Hubbard and Mt. Lucania stretches a range of hitherto unseen mountains in which there are at least 20 peaks over 10,000 feet in height and several even higher than this."

"Before returning to Carcross we made several photographs of Mt. Hubbard and the glaciers east of it, on one of which our base is now established. These pictures are being used now to formulate our future plans of exploration of this magnificent mountain country which is probably the last utterly unexplored region in North America."

"After the base is permanently established on the glacier at an altitude of about 3,000 feet, we will advance camp as rapidly as possible to the divide at its head, 10,000 feet high and 40 miles away, from which the major part of our mapping and photographic work will be done."

Canadian Veterans Get

Relic of Liner Lapland

Toronto, Ont.—A tablet, which was placed in the old Red Star liner Lapland to commemorate the landing of the first Canadian contingent in Britain in the fall of 1914, has been turned over to the Second Canadian Infantry Brigade association here. It was placed on the transport ship by Col. Arthur Currie, later Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, commander in chief of the Canadian expeditionary force who died in 1932. The Lapland ferried 20,924 Canadian soldiers and 21,340 United States troops over the Atlantic without the loss of a man.

Pastor's Will Requests

Burial in Wooden Box

Los Angeles, Calif.—Because of the "wintery large sums that are spent in disposing of dead bodies," the late Rev. Edward Bell Haskell asked that he be buried in an ordinary wooden box. His will, making the unusual burial request, was on file recently in Probate court.

Haskell, a former Congressional missionary who died January 2, left an estate valued at $122,000. Mrs. Elizabeth E. Haskell of Calmar, N. Y., his widow, was the principal beneficiary.

Wholesale Barbering

Toronto, Ont.—Every six weeks a squad of 20 barbers make it a field day and attack the foliage of children at the W. C. T. U. children's farm home near here. The tonsorialists deploy among the seven dormitories and trim the children free of charge.

Turks To Rest on Sundays

Ankara (AP)—An effort is about to have Sunday made the official day of rest in Turkey, instead of Friday, the Mohammedan Sabbath. The fact that all banks and business houses close on Friday and many of them on Sunday also handicaps many business deals.

STONE RIDGE

Stone Ridge, April 18.—The pupils in the senior room of district No. 5 who had perfect attendance during April until Easter vacation and thereby won a half holiday on Thursday were, Edward Beatty, Robert Hamn, Robert Cramer, Frances Barnhart, Zella Sahler, Doris Pine, Edna Sutherland, Thelma North, George Silkworth, Conrad Strivings, Virgil Wagar and Eva Peters. Pupils in junior room having perfect attendance: William Turner, Buddy Countryman, Margaret Osterhout, Ida Sutherland, Helen Silkworth, Florence Elmen-dorf, Betty Brown, Anna Trapnagen, Helen Van Dusen, and Katherine North. On Tuesday morning the primary department entertained the senior pupils with a play, "The Golden Goose". Wednesday afternoon the principal, Ward Hutchins, saw moving pictures of "The Four Sons" in four reels. The primary department had a birthday party for Betty Brown on Wednesday afternoon. Miss Alberta Davis, her teacher, treated with a delicious birthday cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Arnstein were guests on Monday afternoon of the Misses Julia and Josephine Hasbrouck.

Services at the Reformed Church on Sunday: Sunday school at 9:30 o'clock under the direction of L. D. Sahler, superintendent. At the morning service at 10:30 o'clock, the pastor, the Rev. C. Van Tol, will bring a special Easter sermon. The topic of the resurrection message will be, "Then Came the Dawn". Special Easter music will be rendered by the choir. Due to the drama to be rendered by the Methodist and Reformed churches there will be no Christian Endeavor meeting. Members and friends are urged to attend the services upon this important day of the Christian calendar. Those who wish to donate the use of their flowers and plants for the purpose of decorating the Reformed Church are asked to have them at the church on Saturday afternoon as soon after noon as possible. The placing of the flowers will be in charge of Miss Katherine Hasbrouck.

The Christian Endeavor of the Reformed Church will hold a get-together supper in the church basement on Thursday, April 25. The supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock. Those who attend are asked to bring sandwiches enough for themselves and a covered dish of some sort. After the supper an evening of entertainment will be enjoyed by all who wish to remain. The games will be in charge of Miss Evelyn Roosa, and the Rev. C. Van Tol. Anyone in the community is invited to attend the supper and games.

Services at M. E. Church on Sunday will be: Church School promptly at 9 a. m., with Oscar Wood as superintendent. At 9:30 o'clock the primary and junior departments will give a brief Easter program. At 9:50 o'clock, ten minutes before usual church service, the pastor, the Rev. Roscoe Strivings, will take several into the membership of the church. After a five minute Easter sermon to the juniors, the Rev. Mr. Strivings will bring the Easter message of the morning, for which he has chosen the text, "If a Man Die, Shall He Live?" A special Easter offering will be taken for the world service. All are welcome to join in wide work of the church, world the worship of the Risen Lord. Instead of the regular Epworth League service a sacred Easter drama will be presented at 8 o'clock. This drama entitled "Resurrection," will be given under the auspices of the Reformed and Methodist Churches. The following will portray the characters of the drama: Mrs. Elmer Roosa, the woman; Miss Ruth Freer, the nameless one; Miss Evelyn Roosa, the figure in white; Charles Graham, the young man; Virgil Van Wagenen, Gaze; John Baston, Joseph of Arimathea. The public is invited to attend this drama.

Mrs. George Weeks is ill at her home with a cold. All hope for a speedy recovery.

Arnold Jacobson entertained a few friends at his home on Tuesday evening, after Holy Week service, in honor of his birthday. Those present were Mrs. Anna Nilsson, Miss Carol Nilsson, Miss Mary Bloom, Ralph Sahler and Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Jacobson. A social evening was enjoyed with a delicious birthday cake with its candles was among the refreshments. The guests departed wishing Arnold many happy returns of his birthday.

The Misses Mildred Roosa, Mary Bloom, Francis Pine, Charles Walden, Jr., and Robert Carlton, students at New Paltz Normal School, are enjoying an 11-day Easter vacation.

The Misses Margaret and Anna Service, who attend school at Albany, are Easter guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Service.

Mrs. Alfred H. Smith of Kingston was a guest on Wednesday of Mrs. Ralph Sahler and attended the meeting of the Ladies' Aid.

Fred Trapnagen and his mother moved on Wednesday from the tenant house of DeForest Bishop into the tenant house of Mrs. Ina Davis. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Schoonmaker of Auburn were guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Schoonmaker. The union Holy Week services have been well attended.

Alfalfa is recommended as a substitute for red clover this year, as there is a shortage of red clover seed.

Code for Egg Rolling
On White House Lawn

Washington, April 19 (AP)—A "code" for the Easter Monday egg rolling on the White House lawn was issued today.

Instead of NRA, the recreation division of the National Parks Service drew up the code to satisfy queries from the public. The division observed that children roll eggs for "kicks" but the White House disavows responsibility for this old custom.

"The egg rolling is not supervised in any way and the rules are made by the children themselves," the announcement stated.

The rolling this year will take place on Monday between 9 a. m. and 3:30 p. m., and between those hours the White House gates will be opened to all children 10 years of age or under.

By "observation," the Parks Service announced the rolling is played as follows:

"Each child has a basket of dyed eggs. There is one child at the bottom of the hill and another at the top. The child at the bottom places an egg on the ground and the one at the top rolls one down and tries to hit it; it is not touched as it rolls down.

"If it does not hit the egg at the bottom, the children change places. If it does hit it, the child at the top comes down after his egg and tries to crack the other, usually having three trials, the child at the bottom holding the egg in his hand so that only the end shows.

"If he cracks the egg, he takes it and then goes to the top of the hill and rolls another egg. If he does not crack it, both children keep their own eggs and change places."

The rules, of course, are theoretical, for on some occasions so many children gather on the lawn that there is hardly room to move.

GERMAN WOMEN CLING TO STUDY OF MEDICINE

Berlin (AP)—Medicine and pharmacy, which were among the last professions opened to German women, retain the strongest hold on female students in German universities now that the Nazis frown on all such preparation.

New figures show these reductions in numbers of women scholars: medicine, 22.09 per cent from the previous year; dentistry, 25.07 per cent; pharmacy, 15.09; law, 47.96; philosophy, 47.96; economics, 35.2; physics, 52.50; chemistry, 53.24; and geography, 58.33 per cent.

Public Funds For Relief
Washington (AP)—Public funds supplied $79,519,826 of the relief bill for January, 1935, the children's bureau reports, while private funds paid $1,115,674 of the bill. The figures were supplied by 804 agencies in 119 urban areas.

Hudson Valley Glee Clubs Concert May 10

Plans for the joint concert of the Hudson Valley Glee Clubs to be held in the Municipal Auditorium on May 10 are almost complete. A supply of tickets has been issued to all the members of the Mendelssohn Club which is sponsoring this concert. There will be no reserved seats and all tickets are being sold for the same price.

The 400 voice chorus that will give this concert will be made up of the members of the Troy Vocal, Troy, N. Y. Schubert Club, Schenectady, Catskill Glee Club, Catskill; Saugerties Glee Club, Saugerties; Mendelssohn Club, Kingston; Ellettsville Club, Poughkeepsie; Orpheus Glee Club, Poughkeepsie; Amphion Glee Club, Newburgh; the Apollo Club, Middletown; Schubert Club, Port Jervis, and The Apollo Club, Stamford, Conn.

Each one of the four groups of three numbers that will be used in the concert will be under the direction of a different conductor. These conductors will be Andrew Blair, Middletown; Robert Williams, Newburgh; Roland Heermance, Saugerties, and Elmer Tidmarsh, Schenectady.

Miss Mary Hopple, contralto of New York City, will be the soloist for the evening. Miss Hopple is already familiar to music loving audiences in Schenectady, Troy and Poughkeepsie, where she has been received with enthusiasm.

Arthur Connolly, who is general chairman of the committee on arrangements, has outlined all the work for the seven sub-committees. All of these committees have been making more progress than the committee under the leadership of E. V. K. Schutt, secretary of the Mendelssohn Club. He has already sent out two circular letters to the members of the clubs that are taking part. With the assistance of Vernon Miller and LeVan Haver, president and vice president of the club, he has already visited the Catskill Glee Club, the Saugerties Glee Club and the Amphion Club of Newburgh. He reports that these clubs are very enthusiastic and that they are rehearsing diligently on the numbers to be used in the concert.

All three clubs plan to attend as a group and among them they will contribute 120 voices. This committee will visit all the other clubs that will take part to insure a large chorus and a group of well trained and enthusiastic singers.

BAILEY HOLSTEIN COW BREAKS NEW YORK RECORD.

Kenneth O. Bailey, breeder of registered Holsteins at Brewster, N. Y., may be justly proud of his cow named Vilette Goldie Mead, who recently cracked the state butterfat record for a junior four-year-old on twice-a-day milking. Her official yield was 572.2 pounds of fat and 17,483.8 pounds of milk reports the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Goldie was sired by Waldorf Starkdale Lady Belle Lad, who now has twelve daughters which have been admitted to advanced registry due to their proven superior producing ability. During the year on test Goldie was fed a daily average of 20 lbs. alfalfa hay, 25 lbs. silage and one pound of grain to each 3 1/2 lbs. of milk produced except during the six months when she was on pasture.

GLOW WORM AUTO SHOWN IN PARIS

Paris (AP)—Automobiles that shine like glow worms on the darkest nights may be the next thing on the highways.

A French automobile firm is displaying a phosphorescent car in a darkened showroom on the Champs Elysees. The entire body, including the wheel spokes, is finished with a paint that glows weirdly in the darkness.

The inventors claim the luminous car can be seen for half a mile at night, even when its headlights are turned off. They say the device increases parking as well as night driving safety.

"WORK OR PAY" EDITOR ON POLAND'S PROGRAM

Warsaw (AP)—Poland is compelling citizens who refuse jobs on public works to pay an equivalent in cash.

Parliament approved a bill permitting rural and city communities to force residents to help build roads, construct schools, plant forests, improve the soil, and so on, all of which has long been neglected. Community councils will decide how many days each year citizens will have to devote to these projects.

ST. REMY

St. Remy, April 18.—The Easter services will be held with the Lord's Supper being observed at the usual hour of service, 2:30 p. m. There will be singing appropriate to the occasion.

There will be a consistory meeting Friday night and if there are any who are desirous of uniting with the church they are welcome to do so at this time.

Mrs. E. Ellsworth spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Miller at Port Jervis.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Barila of Kingston and Mr. and Mrs. Charles York of St. Remy were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Schermerhorn in Brookline last week. They are being congratulated over the arrival of a daughter, April 12.

Raymond Krom has 14 little white rabbits. They are much admired.

Mrs. E. Schermerhorn of College point is visiting her mother, Mrs. Remy Wells.

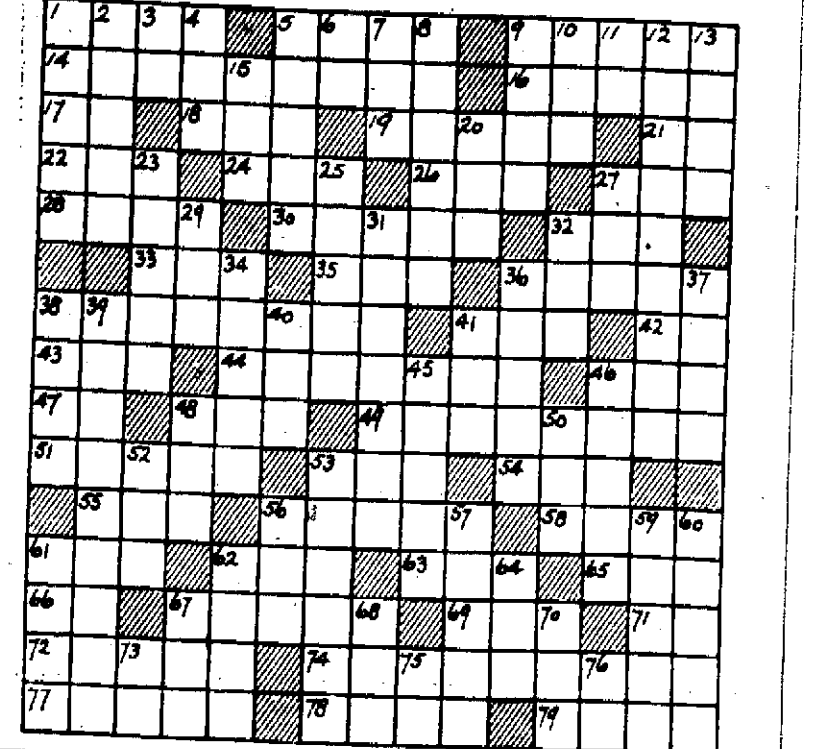

The St. Remy Fire Department will hold a card party at the firehouse on Thursday evening, April 25, at 8:15 o'clock. The public is invited. Refreshments will be served.

Charles Krom, who has had the grip last week, is convalescing.

IN THE REIGN OF GEORGE V

5. A King Goes To War

By December, 1916, the World War had dragged through two and a half years, belying the optimistic prophets who had insisted "it will not last two months." It was then that King George, shown here inspecting Belgian ruins, made his historic visit to the battlefield. The trip was an important milestone in the career of the man whose 25 years as British ruler are being celebrated throughout the empire this year.

Anton B. Dorkewitz of Charleston, S. C., who learned watch-making as a youthful apprentice in Germany, has been working at his trade for 45 years without interruption.

"Good looks" won the judge's decision in a high school debate at Black Mountain, N. C., on the question "Resolved that Good English is more profitable than good looks."

Events Around The Empire State

Ticonderoga, N. Y., April 12 (P).—Walter D. Bascom, 51, widely known curator at Fort Frederic Museum at Crown Point, died at his home here yesterday.

Bascom spent the winter in the West Indies doing research work for the Haver Foundation in New York city. While returning to his home he was stricken with malaria. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon.

Oran, N. Y., April 13 (P).—The accidental discharge of his service pistol as he was cleaning it had caused the death of Roy S. Williams. He was found dead on a bed in his home late yesterday, a bullet wound in his head and the cleaning tools laid out nearby. Coroner W. M. Smith issued a certificate of accidental death.

Albany, N. Y., April 19 (P).—Just to be sure that any official seeking 10 or 12 million dollars in bonds will not be balked from securing them from the vault in the state of New York here, plans were under way to construct emergency doors between the two huge strongboxes.

Stevens Smith, superintendent of the building, in explaining why the doors are to be built, said they are to be used as their name implies. "Just in case of an emergency," the legislature appropriated $4,300 for the work.

Brainardsville, N. Y., April 15 (P).—Possessor of a beautiful white colt puppy, brought about by the fulfillment of a promise made by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry Smith of this village was a happy person today.

When Mrs. Roosevelt was visiting at nearby Chazy Lake last summer she drove her roadster into this community and chanced to strike a dog owned by Smith. The President's wife told Smith she would replace his pet and left the matter in the hands of Captain C. J. Broadfield, commander of State Police at Malone.

The puppy was presented to Smith yesterday by Corporal James Duffy and Trooper Kenneth Parrott, acting on behalf of Captain Broadfield.

Farmers are expected to consume an output of farm implements valued at $250,000,000 in 1935, compared with $179,000,000 in 1934, forecasters quoted by the American Iron and Steel Institute say.

Judge Loughran on Ulster Committee For Catholic Charities

Setting the week of May 5 to 12 for the 1935 Appeal of the Catholic Charities in the 370 parishes of the New York Archdiocese, his Eminence, Patrick Cardinal Hayes, yesterday announced the acceptance by Alfred E. Smith of the honorary chairmanship of the special gifts committee of the cardinal's committee of the laity.

The function of this committee, it was announced for his Eminence, will be to assist the priests and the people in the parish auxiliaries to raise money for the support of the 113 Agencies under the direction of the Catholic Charities in this Archdiocese.

The acceptance of former Governor Smith as honorary chairman, and John A. Coleman of Manhattan as active chairman, was received at a meeting in the cardinal's residence. His Eminence declared it was necessary for Catholic Charities as well as other private agencies to recognize that the problem of relief can no longer be considered a temporary phase by either public or private welfare agencies. From now on, he asserted, both must recognize that for years to come what has until now been characterized as an emergency condition must be treated as a permanent part of the social structure.

The designation of the Special Gifts Committee was accepted as the first step in a permanent organization to meet the increased demands upon the Catholic Charities in the New York Archdiocese by augmenting the contributions of the parishes and insuring a constant interest in Catholic Charities' work among the well-disposed in this Archdiocese.

The special gifts committee of the cardinal's committee of the laity for the 1935 appeal, in addition to Alfred E. Smith as honorary chairman and John A. Coleman of Manhattan as active chairman, includes one vice chairman for each of the remaining eight counties as follows: Harold J. Brown, Staten Island; Thomas F. Connellan, Bronx; Peter J. Murphy, Westchester; Philip A. Mylod, Dutchess; Colonel Raphael A. Egan, Orange; Arthur A. O'Leary, Rockland; James M. Kelly, Sullivan; John T. Loughran, Ulster.

The Very Rev. Dean Stanley of St. Mary's Church is district manager for Ulster county.

"The works of charity are vital to the church," his Eminence declared to a large group of prominent Catholic laymen. "Charity is an integral part of our religious life, and every Catholic worthy of the name must always exemplify in his life and towards his neighbor, the virtue of charity. In the past we have been able to carry on our vast works of charity by reason of the sacrifices of our devoted people."

"However, the church is no different from any other organization. She has suffered much in the past five years by reason of contracted income and the unemployment of her people."

"There is reason to believe that for years to come industry will not provide employment for large numbers of those who are employable in our population now out of work. Public relief, federal, state and municipal, on the other hand will not be adequate except as supplemented by private agencies. This would be true even if present vast expenditures for public relief were continued or increased."

"The care of youth, child of depression, the child of parents, victims of depression, torn homes, entering the employable years after school with no employment available, the prey of the evils of idleness, material for our citizenship of tomorrow—he cannot be saved except through the intervention, protection, guidance and sympathy of the private welfare agency. Private agencies should not shirk their clearly defined obligation; Catholic agencies must not."

"I can assure you on the part of the pastors and priests of this diocese that our parishes will continue as they have in the past to do their full part. But I must have a larger fund at my disposal than that which comes solely through the parishes, and, therefore, I am most encouraged by the formation of this committee of business men under the honorary chairmanship of our beloved friend, Governor Smith, and the active chairmanship of John Coleman. You are more than welcome here and your purpose which is to preach the gospel of Catholic Charities to a larger number of our better circumstanced Catholic business men meets with my unqualified approval. I hope that you will reach out and touch with the hand of charity every one of our potential Catholic leaders in this community."

"Everywhere I go I find the faith of our devoted people to be marvelous. It is a revelation to me. I find myself receiving from the people some of their hope and confidence, and this hope is a supernatural one in character; this confidence a credit to them as citizens of our beloved country."

"Despite world conditions and despite the fact that unemployment does not respond to the device designed for its cure perhaps as fast as some of us thought it might, I am optimistic enough to believe that our Lord will never desert a nation which has not deserted Him, and I see in this faith of our Catholic people and in an increasing spirit of religion everywhere a healthy sign which is God's own good time will bring back a measure of prosperity to our country. Oh, if we have the leadership only do our part as Catholics we need not fear for the outcome."

"God bless you in all that you do. God bless you for the spirit of personal sacrifice with which you undertake this task. I know that His help will be with you abundantly during these coming days."

EMPEROR THANKS JAPAN

Past Noble Grands Entertain Lodge

Thursday night, April 11, will linger long in the memory of the members of Atharhacton Rebekah Lodge, No. 357, I. O. O. F. On that night the Past Noble Grands entertained the lodge as their guests, and the lodge gave a shower for Miss Helen Seeger, one of their officers, whose marriage to Harold Broskie will take place in the near future.

The outstanding feature of the program was a mock marriage. While the guests were assembling for the wedding, Miss Lila Herrick, one of Kingston's talented singers, sweetly sang, "O Promise Me," and other appropriate numbers were played on the piano by Miss Herrick. The wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Miss Florence Gippert, as the bridal party entered the lodge room.

After the wedding a wheel-barrow gayly decorated in pink and green, piled high with gifts, was wheeled in and presented to Miss Seeger. After the gifts had been opened and best wishes extended to the bride to be, and Mr. Merrill of The Pennington Studios had taken a picture of the bridal party, all present were seated at two long beautifully decorated tables.

On each table the center piece was a wedding cake, with a dainty bride and gallant groom on top of it. A delicious salad supper was enjoyed by all.

The district deputy president, Sister Florence Gippert, and several others from Saugerties were present, also guests from Lucetta and Colonial lodges. Altogether it was a most happy occasion.

Wild Lupine Record
Bakersfield, Cal. (A)—A wild lupine with a blossom 5 inches wide and 15 long was found in this state by a member of the National Geographic society and exhibited at a flower show here.

Nature Too Slow
San Jose, Cal. (A)—By heating the soil with electricity and promoting plant growth at night by artificial lighting, a large seed company near here cuts the time of seed production as much as 50 per cent. The forcing methods employed often produce three crops of the same kind in a single year.

Forgotten Potatoes Pay.
McClain, Okla. (A)—The potatoes

he planted and forgot enriched W. N. Scott by more than 500 bushels of spuds. He planted the potatoes last spring and forgot to harvest them. When he started looking for seed potatoes, he discovered the unused crop, sold 300 bushels for $700 and kept the rest for seed.

The coastal section of South Carolina, once a heavy producer of rice, quit commercial production about 20 years ago.

Action Against Bus Operator Dismissed
An action brought in county court by Jennie O'Connell against Henry Myers, Rosendale bus operator, was dismissed by Judge Tracy Thursday at the conclusion of plaintiff's case. The action was brought to recover for personal injuries. Jennie O'Connell claimed her hand had been injured when a bus door closed on it at the Uptown Bus Terminal. At the conclusion of plaintiff's case A. J. Cook, who appeared for defendant, Myers, moved to dismiss the complaint on the grounds that there had been shown no negligence on the part of defendant. Judge Tracy took a short recess to give counsel an opportunity to produce law to substantiate the claim and then granted the motion to dismiss. N. J. Fowler appeared for plaintiff. Mr. Cook represented Rosendale, Dugan & Haines, attorneys of record for defendant.

Italy And Austria Discuss the Hapsburgs

Rome, April 12 (AP).—Two of the world's leading Fascists, Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy and Vice Chancellor Ernst von Starheimberg of Austria, talked more than an hour today in the Palazzo Venezia and well-informed sources said they discussed the restoration of the Hapsburg dynasty in Austria.

Other subjects discussed by the two leaders were said to be the Danubian conference scheduled to take place the latter part of May in Rome and the problem of Austria's rearmament.

Diplomatic, royalist, and political circles displayed the keenest interest in the conference to which von Starheimberg, a prince of noble birth, was invited by Mussolini, the son of a blacksmith.

Recently there has been noted a trend in Italian sentiment more and more in favor of the restoration of the Hapsburgs to the non-existent throne of Austria as the only permanent means of maintaining Austria's independence and preventing a union with Germany which would bring the regime of Reichsfuehrer Hitler to Italy's northern border.

At the Danubian conference, the nations of Europe will sit in consultation on two of the danger spots to world peace—Austria and the Balkans.

Diplomats said they hoped that a means of guaranteeing Austrian independence would be found at that time through, perhaps, a series of non-aggression pacts which would bring peace to the troubled peninsula. Also to be considered is the problem presented by request for rearmament on the part of Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria.

Italy has indicated that she favors

the rearmament of these other nations—which along with Germany were disarmed by the peace treaties ending the World War—but only by agreement, not by unilateral action.

Prof. Beebe Talks To Kiwanis Club

"Some Interesting People We Like and Why We Like Them" was the topic discussed at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday by Prof. Beebe of the New Paltz Normal faculty.

Announcement was made that the Rotary Club had been invited to join with Kiwanis on May 9 to hear a special music week program under the direction of music chairman Paul Zucca.

Clarence Dunn introduced the speaker.

Prof. Beebe cited the reasons for liking a person, and illustrated each case with a number of examples, also showing by example why some people did not make many friends. The likable qualifications in a person were listed as dependability, non-exaggeration, lack of showiness, lack of feeling of superiority, ability to make one feel comfortable and at home, consideration for feelings of other people and non-domination.

In each of the above cases the speaker related personal experiences which illustrated his point, and he often related bits of information which served to show how a lack of these qualities served to make the person possessing them undesirable.

The musical program was in charge of Paul Zucca assisted at the piano by Danny Bittner.

WAITING FOR SENATE TO QUIT

Stone Ridge.

"Hobbies" was the topic of interest at the regular meeting of Stone Ridge Grange on Monday evening. Some of the interesting hobbies discussed were fishing, raising flowers, doing needlework, collecting old lamps, making rock gardens, reading and making objects of wood. Ward Hutchins, who has a movie machine as one of his hobbies, showed an interesting picture entitled "Bootleg." The members enjoyed the story as well as the views of the "Century of Progress" fair at Chicago.

An exciting game of dart baseball was played after the meeting.

The next regular meeting will be held on Monday, May 6, at eight o'clock. A program honoring the fathers and mothers will be presented. All Grange parents will be honored guests.

On Tuesday, April 23, the Grange members, their families and friends will enjoy themselves at a "Good Will Social." Each family is asked to bring a "covered dish" and some buttered sandwiches or rolls for a supper to be served at 6:30 o'clock. Coffee will be furnished by the service and hospitality committee. There will be dancing, cards and games to make the evening enjoyable. A silver collection will be taken during the evening. All members are asked to remember the date and bring their friends to another of Grange's evenings of fun.

Highland.

Highland, April 12.—The program arranged by the lecturer, Mrs. Bradford Freer, and presented at Highland Grange Tuesday evening, opened with singing, "In the Garden." John J. Gaffney and Earl Kisor followed with a talk on Federal Loan Bank Association. Viola Wood gave a tap dance number. Rose Symes, moving pictures of Cornell University campus and buildings, logging with a tractor and a film of Mickey Mouse were shown by Milo F. Winchester; a poem, "Easter Meditation," was given by Mrs. Mabel Schneider, and the closing number sung by all present. "Blest be the Tie." There were two visitors from New Paltz Grange, five from Clintondale and one from Webster Grange at Amenia. The committee on refreshments were Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Schantz, Mrs. Mary H. Pratt, Carlton Upright, Mrs. Martha Schantz, Martin Schantz, Mrs. Rachel Rowley, George Rowley, Homemade ice cream was a feature of the refreshments, made by Mrs. Lorin Schantz. Mrs. Mary Bell reported the sale of clam chowder netted the sum of $25. On Thursday, April 25, a dance will be held in the hall and the public is invited.

Lake Katrine.

The regular meeting of the Lake Katrine Grange was held at the Grange Hall on Monday evening. There were 79 brothers and sisters present. This number included 12 members from Mt. Tremper Grange, who were guests for the evening. All of the officers were present. Brother Daniel Morehouse reported for the March committee and thanked everyone who had helped so willingly.

Brother Carl Wille gave a very interesting report for the legislative committee.

Sister Barbara Doll and Sister Annabelle Stanley were reported ill, and everyone hopes for their speedy recovery.

Sister Marie Lechmann has offered her home for a card party for the benefit of the Grange.

It was reported that the Traveling Album will be started at the Plattkill Grange on April 25. Everyone is urged to attend this meeting.

The program was in charge of Worthing Lecturer Marie Lechmann and was as follows: "My Bonnie," song game; everyone was glad to welcome Brother and Sister Wallace and Brother and Sister Forman, who spent the winter in St. Petersburg, Fla.; Sister Forman gave a very interesting account of the trip; "America the Beautiful," sung by the Grange; selections by the Lake Katrine Grange Orchestra; short skit in rhyme; flower show by Mary Master Brooker sang "The Old Reel"; accompanied by the orchestra; the orchestra played a medley of old favorites and the entire Grange sang as many of the songs as they knew; readings, "Easter Lilies," read by Sister Lillian Robinson; "In the Garden," sung by the Grange. After the meeting delicious refreshments were served by the April committee whose chairman is Sister Alice D'Aigle.

freshments were served by the April committee whose chairman is Sister Alice D'Aigle.

County Mass Meeting.

On April 25, the first of the series of the annual visitation meetings of Ulster county Granges, will be held in the Plattkill Grange hall at 8 p. m.

This meeting will be in charge of the Pomona Lecturer, Mrs. Charles Jenkins. A splendid program is being prepared. The guest speaker of the evening will be Harold M. Stanley of Skaneateles, N. Y., secretary of the New York State Grange and secretary of the Revolving Scholarship Fund. There will be a debate on the subject, "Resolved, that a college education is more beneficial to rural boys and girls than an education of practical experience." One team will be composed of Barnard Joy, county 4-H Club agent and two 4-H members. Their opponents will be a debating team of Highland High School. Several numbers by the newly formed Glee Club, violin solos, quartet, etc.

A free will offering will be taken for the benefit of the Grange Scholarship Fund. All Grangers and friends are urged to attend as a good time is promised to all. This meeting is of special interest to the young people, plan now to come. Everyone attending is asked to bring sandwiches and a covered dish. The host Grange will serve coffee. Music for dancing will be furnished by the Plattkill Grange.

Clintondale.

The regular meeting of Clintondale Grange was held Monday evening, April 15, with an attendance of 55, despite the inclement weather.

Worthy Master Howard Simpson presided at the business session which was full of plans for future work.

It being past masters night, Brothers J. W. Weaver, W. Jenkins and Francis Gaffney, past masters, were escorted to a seat of honor.

Flowers were placed on the altar in loving memory of John Weaver and Ralph Harcourt, who had served the Grange loyally for several years. A very beautiful tribute to them was read by Miss Elizabeth Bernard.

In behalf of the service and hospitality committee, Mrs. Harry Sutton presented Brothers Weaver and Gaffney with Grange pins and Brother W. T. Jenkins with a past masters jewel.

Several of the members gave short talks.

All were very happy to have Deputy Weaver present again after his accident and he was assured a royal welcome.

Brothers Terwilliger and Montrillo spoke on federal farm credit which was enjoyed by all.

After singing, the Grange closed and a social hour and refreshments followed.

The following committee served: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schepmose, Mr. and Mrs. Werner Passberg, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sandt, Mrs. Alida Burger, Catherine Schepmose, John Thomas.

The local W. C. T. U. held its regular monthly meeting in connection with a public meeting Wednesday, April 17, beginning at 3 o'clock in the Methodist Church parlor. The two local missionary societies were invited as guests. Mrs. Russell R. Akins, a member of the Methodist Missionary Society, presided at the piano and played while the people assembled. The president, Mrs. Morgan Coultan, presided and called the meeting to order and offered prayer. The program for the meeting was on "Temperance and Missions." The local evangelistic director, Mrs. Luther Terwilliger, had charge of the devotion, which began with singing, "The Morning Light." Mrs. Terwilliger gave a very helpful talk and readings which fitted with the Lenten season and Holy Week, also Bible readings. Mrs. Russell Akins and Mrs. Terwilliger sang "Must Jesus Bear the Cross?" After this Mrs. Terwilliger spoke on "The Lord's Prayer," of the different times it was given in the Bible. She offered an earnest prayer and the much appreciated and helpful devotional program closed by all sing "Near the Cross." A brief business session followed with the reading of the minutes of the last meeting and reports. The president in a very pleasing manner introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Edward Young, of Milton, county evangelistic director. Her talk touched upon "The Sin of Intemperance," individually and nationally, and temperance and missions. She also read a letter from a missionary friend in Africa which told of conditions. Mrs. Young also spoke on peace. The president then announced there would be five minute talks by the following five members: Mrs. Luther Terwilliger, Mrs. Raymond Hasbrouck, Mrs. Hiram Relea, Miss Bertha O. Metcalf and Mrs. Robert L. Mauterstock, second vice president, presented Mrs. Young with a beautiful bouquet of snapdragons and carnations. A social time followed.

The necessity for forest conservation in New York state was recognized more than 200 years ago but not until 50 years ago were any definite steps taken to preserve its forests. On May 15, 1885, Gov. David B. Hill signed a bill creating the Forest Commission, which has been the forerunner for the state's various activities in conservation work. Because of the importance and economic accomplishments in these 50 years New York is to celebrate this anniversary this year.

News of Highland and Vicinity

Highland, April 19.—Theodore Oesbo came up from New York Thursday to spend his Easter vacation with his aunt, Mrs. Fred Lewis Wall.

A friendship service featured the devotion section of the meeting of the Methodist Missionary Society Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles L. DuBois. This was in token of the workers on the fields. Mrs. Fred Wilsey reviewed the chapter on the Youth of Japan from the book "Suzuki Looks at Japan." Mrs. James Swift presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Rose Seaman. Plans were made for attending the spring conference on May 15 at Newburgh.

School sessions closed Wednesday for the Easter vacation and will not reopen until April 23. Principal and Mrs. Herbert Campbell and daughter Joann Friday for Red Hook; Miss Martha Bensch is in Washington for the holiday; Miss Helen Skyes drove to her home at West Warwick, R. I.; Miss Elizabeth Young is with the Smiley family at Mohonk Lake; Mrs. Mary Gaffney will be in New York for part of her holiday; Miss Rose Syme plans to visit a few days in Tenafly, N. J.; Mrs. Fred Boyce and Mr. Boyce will spend the Easter week-end at her home in Dover Plains; Milo F. Winchester with his family plan to be with their parents in America during the week. Mrs. Martin and Miss Ethel Martin of Mt. Vernon will be Easter guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Curry. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilklow have returned from a week spent with their daughter, Mrs. Frank DuBois, at Gardiner. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer D. Fisher plan to go Monday to Mrs. Fisher's parents at East Sawtucket, L. I. Mrs. Frank DuBois of Gardiner visited her sister, Mrs. S. D. Farnham over Thursday night. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rathgeb and daughter drove to Sherburne Thursday. The former returned while Mrs. Rathgeb and Nancy will remain for ten days with her mother.

Workmen are rooming in the village while constructing a mausoleum for Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Rose in the Union Cemetery at Lloyd.

Practice work for the part of Ida McKinley Council, D. of A., will take in the district meeting in Kingston on April 23 took place at the meeting of the council Wednesday evening. This was followed by the entertainment, a vocal duet with George Muller and Louis Palmer, Jr., and a skit between Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Cotant.

An enthusiastic Republican Club meeting was held Wednesday evening in Peeter's hall which was presided over by the president, John F. Wallin. This was the first get-together since fall and the attendance of 60 men proved the interest they had. Roger Loughran of Kingston talked to the men along political lines. It was decided to meet the third Wednesday of each month and the committee to procure a speaker for next month in Henry Busick, Fred Decker and Philip Willard. Refreshments of frankfurters, rolls and coffee were served at the close.

DOGS RAID HEN HOUSE, KILL 80 FOWL AT HIGHLAND

Highland, April 19.—Dogs entering the chicken house of Jesse Olree on the Milton road, Wednesday night killed 80 choice hens which were kept separate because their eggs were used in the incubators. Mrs. Olree twice heard the commotion and the first time she looked out saw nothing but the second time the noise was greater and going to the window saw a dog with a chicken and another coming out of the house with one. Mr. Olree went for his rifle but by that time the dogs saw they had been discovered and ran. On entering the house the 80 were found dead.

This is a serious loss in the middle of the hatching season and Mr. Olree had ordered ahead for little chicks. He carries an excellent grade of chickens and had paid $100 for his roosters not long ago. About two weeks ago the 14 chickens owned by John Dusenberry were killed similarly. The only description that the Olrees had of the dogs were that they were black. Steps will now be taken to catch the dogs.

State To Collect From American Airlines

Buffalo, N. Y., April 19 (AP).—The state of New York today received $2,800 in settlement for the deaths of two men among the seven persons killed in the crash of an American Airlines luxury liner on Last Chance Mountain in the Catskills last June. Settlements by American Airlines previously had removed defendants of the three men from the beneficiary class and the state moved to collect the compensation through a clause in the law which states all insurance of the type is collectible.

Awards of $1,300 each for the deaths of William A. Cass and Harold C. Coppins, both of Buffalo, were made to the state yesterday by Compensation Referee Charles K. Blatchly. Their self-insured employer, F. N. Burt Co., Ltd., was ordered to make the payments. The referee's action followed a previous hearing at which Somerset Solway Company, self-insured employer of William B. Bader, also of Buffalo and another of the seven crash victims, was ordered to pay $1,300 to the state for his death.

Mrs. Cass and her two children received $32,000 from the Airlines; Mrs. Coppins and her three children, $65,000; and Mrs. Bader and her child, $29,000.

The four others killed in the crash of the plane against the mountain were Harry Pinsley of New York, a passenger, and the three members of the crew.

SCIENCE VS. SENSE AND LATTER WINS.

New York, April 19 (AP).—Johnny Woods, science's conditioned twin, wants to join the trapeze artists. But Brother Jimmy, who started life like any other infant, has a much better idea of what a circus is all about.

Three years old, the twins climaxed the celebration yesterday with a visit to the circus.

Johnny, sufficient unto himself after two years of training by psychologists and physicians, easily clambered up a flight of stairs, offered the midge a peanut and sauntered down into the crowd. Jimmie tried to be allowed to shake her hand, but had to get his mother to hold him up so he could.

Johnny wanted to dive under an elephant's legs; Jimmie needed no injunction to stay by his mother.

Johnny buried peanuts under the elephant's feet; Jimmie wisely waited until the elephant extended its trunk for the proffered nut.

Johnny tried to get away to put his fingers into the monkey's cages; Jimmie, noting the enmity of some of the animals, declared: "They're not monkeys; they're dopes."

Johnny slobbered his ice cream; Jimmie dexterously consumed all of the melting refreshment.

"Lemme down," the fascinated Johnny shouted as the aerial artist performed. "Lemme down. I wanna get up there."

"Lemme down," echoed Jimmie, but the ring of conviction was missing.

The trapeze acts over Johnny drewled; Jimmie took in everything. When the show ended, Johnny was too sleepy to comment. Jimmie wanted to know what was next.

"No more circus," said Jimmie. "We take taxi."

DETERMINE SOURCES OF NIGHT SKY LIGHT

Chicago and Texas College Professors Make Study.

Chicago.—Although the huge 82-inch telescope of the McDonald observatory, joint project of the University of Texas and the University of Chicago, on Mt. Locke, Texas, is not yet completed, an investigation already is under way near the new observatory to determine the sources of light in the night sky.

Using an old 12-inch refracting telescope which was presented some years ago to the Yerkes observatory of the University of Chicago by Dr. G. E. Hale, assistant Professor C. T. Elvey of the Yerkes staff and Dr. F. E. Roach of the McDonald observatory have been recording the light of the night sky with a recording photo-electric photometer designed by Doctor Elvey.

The light of the night sky is made up of direct starlight; starlight which is scattered both by the earth's atmosphere and the matter in interstellar space; zodiacal light which is concentrated in the ecliptic but which may extend over the entire sky; and of the light originating within the atmosphere of the earth; the permanent aurora, or northern lights, although it is related to it.

Many Study Problem.

Many investigators have studied the problem of the composition of the light, and a general investigation by the Dutch astronomer, Van Rhijn has shown the following percentage composition: Direct starlight, 15 per cent; starlight scattered by the earth's atmosphere, 5 per cent; zodiacal light, 43 per cent; aurora, 15 per cent, and scattered earthlight, 10 per cent.

It is well known to astronomers that there are large fluctuations in some of the sources of light, particularly of the zodiacal light and the aurora. Lord Rayleigh found that the light of the night sky undergoes large variations, with a range of eight-fold between the smallest and largest.

The variations are sometimes fairly rapid, Doctor Elvey having found in his work at Yerkes as much as a 25 per cent change in brightness of the sky within a period of two hours. There also are daily variations in the intensity of the auroral light in the night sky, which in some parts of the world reaches a maximum about 2 a. m. and in other parts is at its maximum just after twilight has ended.

These large variations have made detailed analysis of the light difficult, because during the several hours required to cover the sky, there are many changes in the light.

To make possible observations in a brief space of time Doctor Elvey devised the recording photo-electric photometer. It consists of a very sensitive galvanometer which measures the output of the amplifier. The recording is achieved by shining a lamp on the galvanometer mirror, which reflects the light to a slit behind which is a moving sheet of bromide paper.

Deflections Recorded.

The deflections of the galvanometer are then recorded on the bromide paper, which is directly connected to the photometer so that it moves past the slit as the instrument is rotated around the vertical axis. With this instrument a complete record of the brightness of the sky on a circle parallel with the horizon can be made to approximately five minutes, and the entire sky can be observed in about an hour. A check of the variations in light during this time can be made by observing a given region of the sky several times.

Doctor Roach already has obtained over a hundred tracings with the instrument, from which he and Professor Elvey have determined the axis of the zodiacal light, the cone of light that can be seen rising from the horizon after sunset and before sunrise.

Contrary to general belief, the axis does not coincide with the plane of the orbit of the earth—the ecliptic. Observations show the morning zodiacal light is displaced to the north of the ecliptic by as much as five degrees. A series of evening observations indicate that in part of the ecliptic the zodiacal light was near the ecliptic, apparently crossing it.

The astronomers expect that a detailed analysis of the tracings will give the relative amount and the distribution of the light from various sources contributing to the total light from the night sky.

His Beard Is Passport to Wilds of Colombia

Hollywood. — Whiskers—plain or fancy—are a passport to safety in the Colombian wilds.

And because he is seen to carry out a dangerous errand into the South American jungle, Gregory Mason, author-explorer, is growing a lavish beard.

An anthropologist of the Museum of the American Indian, Mason is widely known for his research in ancient Mayan civilization.

His embryo beard bristling fiercely, Mason explained that various Indian tribes in interior Colombia were unable to grow whiskers. He added, "Even a thin lip mustache has its appeal for these natives. A full Van Dyke acts as a ticket to almost any thing in Colombian jungles."

Metal Working Plant To Open at Ellenville

Work of putting the former Sun Ray Water plant at Ellenville in shape for operation as a metal working factory will start Monday. Five trailer loads of machinery arrived in Ellenville Wednesday and the machinery will be placed in position at once.

Mark Levin, treasurer of the company, Shell Metal Products, Inc., is quoted as saying that present plans are to start active working operation some time between May 1 and May 10.

Contributions toward a fund of $3,000 to assist in locating the new business venture are being received from local business men and $1,500 or more has already been collected. An item of $1,000 has been placed in the village budget, leaving $500 more to be raised by subscription.

Arrested for Speeding

Arthur W. Kappel of Monsey was arrested for speeding 48 miles an hour on Albany avenue on Thursday afternoon. He left $8 in cash for his appearance in police court today, and when he failed to appear the court forfeited the bail.

ENJOY MORE SUNNY DAYS

Your moods, your actions, your very personality—all are influenced by the state of your health. Avoid common constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. This ailment may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy. It takes the color out of living.

Kellogg's All-Bran, a natural laxative food, furnishes you with this needed "bulk." Within the body, it absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

The "bulk" in All-Bran remains effective with continued use. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Isn't this cereal food better than patent medicines?

All-Bran also provides vitamin B and iron. Serve it as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, breads, waffles, etc. It's much more satisfactory than part-bran products. Get the red and green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

DOCTOR TOLD HER HOW TO LOSE 17 POUNDS OF FAT

Gossipers Peeved.

Mrs. Robert Hickey of Rosville, Calif., writes: "My doctor prescribed Kruschen Salts for me—he said they wouldn't hurt me in the least. I've lost 17 lbs. in 6 weeks. Kruschen is worth its weight in gold."

Mrs. Hickey paid no attention to gossipers who said there was no safe way to reduce—envious women who don't like to see others youthfully slim. She wisely followed her doctor's advice. Why don't YOU?

Kentucky Youth Dies On Scaffold Today For Attack on Woman

By DILLARD STOKES
Associated Press Staff Writer
Smithland, Ky., April 19 (AP)—William De Boe went to his death on the scaffold here today after shouting "cold blooded murderer" at the woman who accused him of raping her. One outburst charging she would have taken money to have dropped her accusation brought an angry denial from her. He was the first white man to be hanged in Kentucky in a generation.

Nine times he shook his manacled hands at Mrs. Marjorie Johnson, wife of a storekeeper.

"Why don't you speak?" De Boe shouted at her. "Are you willing to stand there, say nothing and see me die? You should be here in my place."

The 22-year-old wife of a storekeeper remained calm until De Boe in a final outburst cried out to the 1,500 spectators, about 50 of whom were inside the eight-foot fence on the courthouse yard of this little western Kentucky town. The others pressed closely around points of vantage and peered over the enclosure at the nine-foot gallows.

"If I had had $500 I wouldn't be on this scaffold. I wouldn't have taken it."

"Not if you had offered me $1,000," the woman replied in a shrill, strident voice.

"Oh, yes. You'd have taken the money and let me go."

Again came her loud denial. De Boe, 23-year-old Paducah, Ky., youth, convicted of attacking the woman while he and a companion were robbing her husband's store, spoke for 45 minutes before he calmly went to his death. He hurled charges at Alvin Lisanby, commonwealth's attorney, terming him a party to a "terrible miscarriage of justice."

He also shouted angrily at Randolph Johnson, the woman's husband, then he quieted down. The trap was sprung at 6:39 and he was pronounced dead 11 minutes later.

Kentucky provides in the county where the crime was committed in criminal assault cases and the electric chair for other capital offenses.

The Livingston county jail is too small for a gallows and part of the courthouse square was fenced in. From higher ground and other points of vantage the spectators peered over the enclosure. About 800 persons had gathered here last night to be ready at sunup for the execution. Hangings are infrequent in the state.

Era Davenport, of Okemah, Okla., convicted with De Boe is serving a penitentiary sentence of 20 years for aiding in the attack, and 27 years for robbery.

De Boe was indicted for another robbery and attack in Kentucky, and was charged with an attack in Tennessee. He and Davenport were captured at Dyersburg, Tenn., and were spirited away from an angry mob by Tennessee officers, who wrapped sheets around the pair and hauled them to Memphis concealed in an automobile.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals affirmed the De Boe death sentence and five weeks ago denied his petition for a rehearing. The denial automatically set the execution date for today. Governor Ruby Laffoon refused to

County Farm Bureau Fruit Unit Organizes Clintondale Market

Clintondale, April 19.—The fruit project committee of the Ulster County Farm Bureau with Francis E. Gaffney, Sr., as chairman met on Monday evening at the Cold Storage Plant of the Clintondale Fruit Growers Association. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss plans for a fruit market here. The plans were discussed and an agreeable market plan was finally adopted, together with ideas for sponsoring an orderly market plan for all fruit growers of this county and to name the newly organized plan, "The Mid-Hudson Fruit Growers Marketing Association." Officers elected were:

President, Theodore Oxholm of Esopus; vice-president C. Kenneth Taber of Milton; treasurer, Harry Vandervoot of Highland; temporary secretary, W. J. Clarke of Kingston; directors are Eley Coy of Ardonia, Joseph Dero of Gardiner, Arthur Kurtz of New Paltz, Francis E. Gaffney, Sr. of Clintondale, W. J. Haviland of Marlborough, Edgar M. Clarke of Milton, J. J. Mack of Highland and Raley Mott of Esopus and Ulster Park. L. G. Haviland and Son of Highland was then appointed marketing agent for the association by a motion made by the board of directors that the president and secretary sign an agreement accordingly.

Among the fruit growers attending together with the section they represented were:

Ardonia, Eber Coy and Eber Palmer. Clintondale, Francis E. Gaffney, Sr., Walter Margraf, Peter Gaffney, Highland, LeGrande Haviland and Son, J. J. Mack, Harry Vandervoot, Milton, Edgar M. Clarke, Jr., C. Kenneth Taber.

New Paltz, Arthur Kurtz. Esopus and Ulster Park, Theodore Oxholm, Leslie Herring, Raley Mott.

Kingston, W. J. Clarke, Assistant Farm Bureau agent.

The next meeting of the organization will be held on Tuesday evening.

Orders Sale of Herbert Brush Co.

Supreme Court Justice Schirck has signed an order directing that the property known as the Herbert Brush factory on Greenkill avenue at Sterling street which is to be sold under a judgment of foreclosure and sale in an action brought by the Kingston Savings Bank against Joseph M. Herbert, as executor etc., shall be sold as one parcel. The building together with machinery, engines, motors, shafting etc., will be sold together with the equipment of the woodworking portion of the plant.

Interceded in the case. De Boe's father, W. T. De Boe, had circulated petitions for a commutation of sentence, and the condemned man's sister, Margaret, carried an appeal personally to the governor. His mother is dead.

Last night De Boe said he had "made his peace with the Almighty" and was resigned to his fate.

Democratic Leaders Strive To Push Social Security Bill Through

Believe Republican Attempts to Change Measure Will Fail and House Will Enact Program of Social Security Before Night.

Washington, April 19 (AP)—Calling the House into session an hour earlier than usual, Democratic leaders today strove to push the administration's social security bill to passage before adjournment tonight.

Speaker Byrns and other House leaders predicted that despite promised Republican attempts to change the bill it would be passed without any amendments of consequence save those approved by the Democratic majority of the ways and means committee.

Overnight surveys of sentiment showed little or no change since yesterday, when the huge Democratic majority stood behind the leaders and beat down 25 amendments designed to liberalize or emasculate the bill.

Townsendites apparently lost their last hope for another House vote, their amendment was defeated yesterday 206 to 56—when Republicans decided to omit the Townsend $200-a-month pension plan from their final motion to send the security bill back to committee.

The Republican motion, it was said, would be to instruct the ways and means committee to strike from the bill the old-age annuities and federal grants to state unemployment insurance systems, and to raise from $15 to $20 the maximum federal contribution toward old-age pensions to the needy over 65.

Formal Verdict of Murder and Suicide

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—A formal verdict of murder and suicide drew the curtain today on an illicit love tangle at Dutchess county's costliest roadhouse.

Nicholas Carpinelli, 40, ex-Yonkers boxing and wrestling promoter, formerly of Brooklyn, shot Mrs. Antonietta J. Pizzarelli Mancuso, 30, three times and then fired a bullet into his own right temple. Dr. Howard P. Carpenter, deputy medical examiner, found after a post-mortem examination.

County and state police were puzzled by only one angle of the shootings which took place yesterday morning at the Knolls, of which Mrs. Mancuso was the proprietress. The fact that telephone wires leading to the woman's bedroom, where the bodies were found, were cut, incited authorities to believe that Carpinelli had intended to make his escape after shooting Mrs. Mancuso. The realization finally of what he had done is believed to have made him change his mind and take his own life.

Until several weeks ago Carpinelli had been manager of the Inn. His discharge resulted in threats of vengeance after a reconciliation between the woman and her husband, Charles Mancuso, an insurance agent.

One of Last Members Of G.A.R. Here Is Dead

Emmitt R. Hicks a member of the G. A. R., and for about 30 years an employee of the Board of Public Works of the City of Kingston, died this morning at his residence, 33 Lindley avenue, after a short illness. Mr. Hicks is one of the last surviving members of the G. A. R. in Kingston. He had led a retired life for the last six years. Surviving are one son, David H. Hicks, of Kingston, and two grandsons, Emmitt B. of Newburgh, and John J. Hicks of New Haven, Conn. The body may be viewed at any time at the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 234 Fair street, where funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The funeral service will be private for members of the family and relatives. Burial will be in Montpelier Cemetery.

Among the men to which the recently opened radio telephone service between the United States and Japan has been put up was the ordering of a set of flexible shaft. American will be by the managing director of a Japanese news agency.

New City Treasurer At Hudson Replaces M.Wm. Herbs, Missing

Hudson, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—Clinton K. Clapper was sworn into office as acting city treasurer today to take over the work of City Treasurer M. William Herbs.

Mayor Frank Wise said City Treasurer Herbs "hasn't been around since Monday" and he needed someone to sign temporary emergency relief and the police payroll.

The mayor reported that state auditors were examining the city books. He said he had asked for the audit, and described it as a "routine."

State Controller Morris S. Tremaine's office in Albany reported it had received an "informal" report from its three auditors but no official announcement was made what the report was.

Clapper was sworn into office by the city clerk.

"The situation is very embarrassing," Mayor Wise said.

"The treasurer hasn't been around since Monday. He left town and didn't leave any word where he was going. He neglected to sign these checks before he went. Somebody's got to sign them so I appointed a deputy treasurer."

Herbs, the absent treasurer, is about 50 years old, married and has a family.

One report was that his automobile had been found in an Albany garage.

He was appointed to succeed former City Treasurer Charles J. West, who was sent to Clinton Prison after discovery of a shortage of $256,000 in the municipal accounts in 1931.

Chief of Police Thomas L. Connors said today he had been asked by Mayor Wise to locate Herbs.

"I am making every effort to do so," the chief said.

"I saw him Sunday. Monday morning he left home and told his family he was going to Albany on business. Monday night he didn't show up and the family became worried. I was asked to go to Albany to find out if he had been hurt in an accident or if anything had happened to him."

"I found his car in a garage there, but I have no trace of him since."

Accord Cooperative Is Sullivan Topic

Writing on "NRA Control of Prices Found Menace to Farm Cooperatives," Mark Sullivan in today's Herald Tribune tells of a recent experience of the Accord Farmers Cooperative with the Food and Grocery Distributing Code Authority.

According to Mr. Sullivan's account the Accord Cooperative, operated without profit for the benefit of its some 400 farmer members, recently bought some sugar, paying $4.41 per hundred pound, sack and selling for $4.65, the small advance of 24 cents on a hundred pounds being satisfactory.

Two letters from the Code Authority in reference to the matter, complaint having been made that the code price was being violated, are given. From one of them the statement is quoted, "Apparently sugar is an item which is being kicked around like a football in the Ulster and Sullivan county areas. I intend to put a stop to it even if it becomes necessary to institute court proceedings."

Apparently nothing has happened, so far.

Wins Women's Singles Title

Pinehurst, N. C., April 19 (AP)—Mrs. Penelope Anderson McBride of Short Hills, N. J., today captured the women's singles title in the annual north and south tennis tournament here, defeating Jane Sharpe, of Pasadena, Calif., number six in the national rankings, 5-4, 6-4. Miss Sharpe was the defending north and south titleholder.

It usually pays any farmer to make a careful study of his soil to determine what is may need to insure profitable returns. County agricultural agents are always ready to give assistance to those who desire such service.

U. S. Protests to Germany on Bonds

Washington, April 19 (AP)—A new vigorous protest against Germany's failure to make interest payments on approximately $2,000,000 due American holders of Dawes bonds on April 15 has been made by the United States.

Secretary Hull announced today that William E. Dodd, American ambassador to Berlin, delivered the protest in the form of an aide memoire at the German foreign office yesterday.

The United States previously had made a number of formal and verbal protests against Germany's failure to pay as being discriminatory against Americans.

In Memoriam
In sad and loving memory of my dear sister, Sister Mary Ellen McNamee, who departed this life one year ago, at St. Mary's Convent, Port Jervis.
You gentle face and patient smile,
With sadness I recall,
You had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.

Great Himalayans Grew for Millions of Years
A few million years before the North ern hemisphere came into the grip of the ice age, the Himalayan mountains began to rise from a low mountainous land, notes a writer in the New York Times. At that time dense jungles covered its southern slope, which was drained by numerous rivers that wound their way to the ancient Ganges plain. These primeval streams washed down the rock waste from the highlands, and their floodwaters carried with them loads of fallen trees, leaves and skeletal remains of forest animals which eventually got embedded in shaly and rocky matrix. This process continued for a long time and thick rock formations began to pile up in the plains, which gradually sank under the load. These formations nowadays form the foothills of the Himalayas.

It is here that, among numerous other fossils, are found the relics of large apes. These are represented by jaw fragments belonging to certain genera whose evolution developed in several directions, some becoming more like the recent great apes, while others approached man.

Teakens Unusual in Ceylon
Sinhalese native carriers are not beyond "gliding the lily" when preparing ebony elephants for tourists and curio dealers, say naturalists familiar with wild life in Ceylon. Nearly all the little black elephants bought in Ceylon by tourists or featured in displays of tea in Canada are carried at Galle in Ceylon. They are artistic and, except in one respect, lifelike. Each is made with shiny white tusks. The reason for the tusks is that everybody expects an elephant to have tusks—and the Sinhalese are an obliging people. Actually, however, very few of Ceylon's elephants are built that way.—Montreal Herald.

With the Hawk Family
The Coopers and the sharp-shinned hawks are descending of their reputation as predators, an authority states, and there is some doubt as to the status of the marsh hawk and the red-tail; but most of the other hawks are properly classed as beneficial. Likewise he declares that all species of owls other than the Great Horned owl are valuable residents because of the large numbers of mice and other pests they consume.

Becker-Rogow
Ellenville, April 19.—Miss Frances Rogow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Rogow of the Robin Hood Inn, was united in marriage to Nathan Becker, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Becker of Brooklyn, on Sunday afternoon, April 14. The ceremony, which was conducted by Rabbi Kaplan and the Rev. Mr. Weiss took place in the Congregation B'nai Judah. The bride's sister, Mrs. Kramer, sang "Oh Promise Me", with the accompaniment of the orchestra. The wedding took place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and was attended by more than 200 guests. A reception followed. Immediately after the ceremony, the newlyweds left for Atlantic City on a wedding trip. On their return they will make their home in Brooklyn.

Golden Wedding
Rosendale, April 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Hough, of Rosendale, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, April 14, at the home of their children, Mr. and Mrs. George Hough of Harbison. Mr. Hough is retired from the police department of New York city and has lived in Rosendale for the last 15 years. He has served two terms as mayor of Rosendale. His sons, Gilbert F. and Walter P. and George L. Hough, arranged the golden wedding anniversary for their parents. There were 45 guests present, relatives, neighbors and friends. A large wedding cake graced the center of the table. Refreshments were served and a jolly time was had the entire day. Numerous gifts, flowers and messages of congratulations were received. Among them were greetings from Senator Robert F. Wagner, U. S. senator from the state of New York. Mr. Wagner and Mr. Hough were boyhood friends, playing on the baseball team in Yorkville many years ago. The flowers were sent to the hospital at Graa-lands, White Plains, the following day. The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hough wish to see them celebrate many more wedding anniversaries.

His 92nd Birthday
J. Eugene Secor quietly celebrated his 92nd birthday on Thursday at his home, 291 West Chestnut street. Mr. Secor is enjoying the best of health. Many of his friends remembered his birthday by sending him birthday cards.

Kublai Khan
Kublai Khan was a grandson of Jenghis Khan and founder of the Mongol dynasty of China. He began to reign over the north part of China about 1260 and shortly thereafter he conquered the southern provinces and became master of a vast empire extending from the polar seas to the straits of Malacca, including Tibet, Tartary and Siam. He was one of the ablest of his race, an organizer and administrator of a high degree of ability and intelligence. He was born in 1216 and died in 1294.

Life Near North, South Pole
In the inner Arctic regions there are several species of higher animals, as, for instance, the reindeer and the musk ox, also the polar hare and the lemming. Besides these there are several predatory animals and a number of lower forms, such as land birds, bees, etc. In the Antarctic zone, land animals are lacking. Of lower animals, besides some semi-microscopic ones, only a wingless insect is known.

WEST SHOKAN
West Shokan, April 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Golden Van Benachoten of the east side north boulevard called on Dr. and Mrs. Cosgrove and other old acquaintances hereabout on Thursday. The genial Mr. Van is capable of relating amusing first hand experiences when as boys he and his older brother, Alden, attended the High Point district school. The district was discontinued some 35 to 40 years ago, but in its heyday housed a capacity crowd of children. The schoolhouse, removed a few hundred feet north of its former situation, is one of the wayside farm buildings on the homestead of Mrs. Ole Jargher at West Shokan Heights. James McKinnell, Alice Hill and Carrie Weeks were among the earlier teachers. Miss Hill taught school in Olive and near vicinity over 40 years. Carrie Weeks in married life was Mrs. George Ruseley, mother of the popular teacher of the West Shokan School, Mrs. Edward West. The three have been deceased for several years. The schoolhouse in the glory of its former years was the gathering place of the High Point Sunday school. Likewise hundreds of prayer meetings and preaching services. Of the ministers and laymen preachers or religious workers who labored there, now all deceased, were Elder Humphrey, the Rev. Jacob Happy, the Rev. P. R. Gott, the Rev. F. K. Tassel, Thompson Eckert, Martin Every, Mrs. Abram Lyons, Sunday school superintendent, and doubtless several others. There yet remain many living witnesses to these stirring religious gatherings.

The members of the Sunday school taking part in the Easter service held rehearsal Thursday evening at the Church auditorium. The program will be given Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. There will also be an out of town speaker. Everyone is cordially welcome.

Over 20 persons were present at the stirring gospel service held Wednesday evening at Maple Dell Farm. The group included the Rev. O. M. Lockett and son, Charles, Mrs. Bertha Thompson, Sunday school superintendent, William Bender, Mr. and Mrs. James Burgher, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Avery, Mrs. Ray Wean, Julius Bessardine, Catherine and Mildred Roe, Louise Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard Bell, Mrs. Orville Barber, Cornelia Davis, Mrs. Marshall, Rosa, and several boys from the Boiceville CCC camp.

The principal speaker was the Rev. Mr. Lockett. His subject was followed by a brief talk by Mr. Bender, a well known religious worker. Edward Every with his full, resonant voice, led heartily the song service, with Mr. Lockett, an accomplished musician, playing the violin. Next Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the mid-week service will again be held at the Maple Dell home. Increasing interest is being shown toward these informal gospel gatherings and one and all are cordially welcome.

Charles Blakeslee of Kingston and his girl friend's grandmother, Mrs. Buley, were local callers on Wednesday. Mr. Blakeslee, who recently celebrated his 21st birthday at a homecoming party in Allaben, is a former popular member of Camp Wienecke, CCC. Several years ago he with his parents became members of the West Shokan Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Norton Roe of West Shokan Heights accompanied her uncle, William Jordan, to Kingston on a shopping expedition, Wednesday.

Mrs. E. C. Henry, wife of the well-known Kingston dentist, and friend, Miss Gill, were west side callers on Wednesday. Mrs. Henry, formerly Hattie Waterman, derives no little interest and pleasure in visiting old friends and familiar places here, about she knew so well in her childhood.

James Tweedy and son, Oliver, of Brodhead Heights, on Thursday, assisted with modern plumbing conveniences being installed in the Thompson residence on Main street.

William Jones of Main street was a caller among West Shokan Heights neighbors on Thursday. Mr. Jones well past the three score and ten mark, has been pretty much crippled with rheumatism, but of late appears to have struck something of his former stalwart stride.

Latest report from Lester S. Davis at the Benedictine Hospital, Kingston, is that his past operation improvement continues daily.

With a cloudless evening and a glorious romantic full moon riding the heavens a very splendid attendance was reported at the third Thursday meeting of the Olive Rehearsal. Refreshments and the customary pleasant social hour held away after the business session.

A much enjoyed Easter party was held Thursday afternoon by the children and former students of the West Shokan school. The gay treat was on Mrs. Edward West, the popular and ever kindly teacher. There were games, egg hunts, refreshments and with all a jolly good time.

Alonso Haver, the smiling veteran Ashokan Ford dealer, with his genial wife, were afternoon callers at West Shokan Heights, Wednesday afternoon.

Bernard Schneider of Brodhead has become a member of the Boiceville CCC camp.

Miss Louise Thompson and friend, Miss Cornelia Davis, were Easter shoppers on Friday.

Miss Kathryn Krom of Valley Stream will come home this week-end to enjoy her vacation with her mother and sister.

Mrs. C. E. LeFever, Jr. of Bloomington spent Wednesday of this week with her aunt at Locust Hurst cottage, and called on some friends in the afternoon.

There will be a dart baseball game between the High Falls Firemen and Stone Ridge on Tuesday night, April 23, at the firehouse.

The Junior Missionary Society, or Lend a Hand Society, met at the parsonage on Saturday afternoon. Ellis Briggs and children are staying at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Krom, while Mr. Briggs is in the hospital.

Easter morning service will be observed in St. John's Church on Sunday morning at 9:30 a. m. There will be a solemn procession with holy eucharist.

Service in the Reformed Church at 9:45 a. m.

About The Folks

Mrs. Almee V. Samuel of 40 John street has returned from her vacation in New York city.

Miss Ethel Silver, formerly a teacher at Glasco, is spending her Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Silver at 11 Clark street, Newburgh. Miss Silver is now a member of the faculty of Hauden high school in New York city.

Miss Helena Clearwater, A. N. C., who has been spending much of her furlough with friends and relatives in Kingston, left for New York city on Thursday, where she will spend Easter. On Friday, April 26, Miss Clearwater will leave on the L. S. Army transport, "Republic", from the Port of Embarkation, 58th street and First avenue, Brooklyn, for El Paso, Texas, where she will be the chief nurse at the new Army Hospital.

Needy Families May Obtain Sauerkraut

The local emergency relief bureau has just received 2,500 pounds of sauerkraut for distribution to the needy families of the city. This kraut will be distributed from the commissary and those desiring it must bring their own containers holding from two to six pounds. Water pails are barred it was said at the commissary today.

Coroner DuBois to Hold Inquest Here

An inquest in the death of G. T. Eckhoff of Saugerties, who was killed at Glenclerie early Thursday morning when the car he was riding in collided with a parked truck, will be held at the courthouse on April 25 by Coroner Leston DuBois.

Collie Is Oldest Breed Known to Kennel Experts

To what particular breed the Adam and Eve of Dogdom belong has always been a matter of dispute. Scientists do not agree, but there is a majority vote for the collie. It is the oldest breed known to kennel historians, and there is no question but that many of the later breeds have collie blood. However, asserts a writer in the New York Herald Tribune, the pure strain has stood the test of popularity, and at present there are as many collie fanciers in this country as a lover of the breed can ask for, and the collie is still as popular as ever with a lot of dog owners. In the crowded cities the breed is at a disadvantage and one sees comparatively few collies, but go into the country and one finds lots of nice specimens of the breed.

The chief service of the collie to mankind is well known. He has no equal as a herder of sheep. It is true that the bulk of the collies used as herders in this country, particularly on the big ranches in the West, are smaller, leaner and shorter of hair than the show collie. This is merely because show specimens bring prices that make them economically impossible for ordinary herding. It is not, as some suppose, because the show collie has not the strength and ability to go out and go to work.

Good pasture is the source of the cheapest feed the farm can produce, and the greatest livestock producing sections are always found where pastures are the best.

TEAKENS UNUSUAL IN CEYLON
Sinhalese native carriers are not beyond "gliding the lily" when preparing ebony elephants for tourists and curio dealers, say naturalists familiar with wild life in Ceylon. Nearly all the little black elephants bought in Ceylon by tourists or featured in displays of tea in Canada are carried at Galle in Ceylon. They are artistic and, except in one respect, lifelike. Each is made with shiny white tusks. The reason for the tusks is that everybody expects an elephant to have tusks—and the Sinhalese are an obliging people. Actually, however, very few of Ceylon's elephants are built that way.—Montreal Herald.

With the Hawk Family
The Coopers and the sharp-shinned hawks are descending of their reputation as predators, an authority states, and there is some doubt as to the status of the marsh hawk and the red-tail; but most of the other hawks are properly classed as beneficial. Likewise he declares that all species of owls other than the Great Horned owl are valuable residents because of the large numbers of mice and other pests they consume.

Decline and Fall of Shultz Beer Empire Told in Tax Trial

Many Phone Calls Reveal Extensive Beer Interests of Dutch Schultz and Falling Off of Business Following Raid.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 19 (AP).—The decline and fall of the Bronx beer empire was graphically told today at the federal court trial of Arthur (Dutch) Schultz. Flanagan on charges of evading payment of $24,000 in income taxes. Telephone records told the story of the complete bust-up of the giant enterprise which the government charges poured a fortune into the back accounts of the defendant. By correlating the telephone records with a large map showing the locations of the alleged Schultz headquarters, the prosecution brought out how the beer sales activities of the syndicate nose-dived following a seizure by officials of a fortified establishment at 215 East 149th street, the Bronx, in June, 1931.

During 1930 a total of 18,838 extra calls went out from the nine headquarters, according to the bills for excess calls introduced in evidence.

Following the raid, they declined to less than one hundred. And in August, 1931, the communications system that kept officials of the enterprise and their speakeasy clients in close contact went out of existence.

The records introduced were duplicates of those stolen from a steel cabinet in the New York offices of Assistant United States District Attorney George S. Tarbell in February, 1933.

Chowchow, "One Man" Dog; May Be Native of China

Notably loyal and devoted to his master, the chowchow is often spoken of as a "one man" dog, says a writer in the Los Angeles Times. To strangers, the handsome face of this lion-headed, dignified and powerful creature wears a scowl. It means "no nonsense" and is intended to deter one from undue familiarity. He will make up his own mind irrespective of any advances. To friends, however, his expression is kindness itself.

His plumed tail is held very tightly over the beautiful thick-coated back when the dog is happy, but lowered when he is frightened. His movement, a stiff and rolling gait, due to unusual straightness of his hind legs, which do not bend at the hock, is peculiar to the breed, as are also the characteristic blue tongues, almond-shaped eyes, cat-like feet, strong cobby bodies and an inscrutable oriental appearance.

Almond eyes may or may not be responsible for the claims of many authorities that China is his nativity. The breed, however, was foreign to China, being the outcome of Siberian sledge dogs and the Tibetan mastiff. Gradually drifting southward from the colder regions, he became known in northern China as early as 800 B. C., when all dogs were divided into three classes, hunting dogs, watch dogs and edible dogs. It was into this last category that the fate of the chow was placed.

Million Died in France During Reign of Terror

More than a million persons were put to death in France during the Reign of Terror, according to an itemization in Sir Archibald Alison's "History of Europe From the Commencement of the French Revolution to the Restoration of the Bourbons, 1815."

This list follows:

Guillotined by sentence of the revolutionary tribunals, 18,000.
Women who died from illness produced by excitement and grief, 3,748.
Women killed in La Vendee (a western province which revolted in favor of the Bourbons in 1793), 15,000.
Children killed in La Vendee, 22,000.

Men slain in La Vendee, 900,000.
Victims at Nantes, 32,000.
Victims at Lyons, 31,000.

This makes a total of 1,022,351, but the number killed in La Vendee is exaggerated.

The historian adds: "In this enumeration are not comprehended the massacres at Verceilles, at the Abbey, the Cannes or other prisons on the 20 of September, the victims of the Glaciers of Avignon, those shot at Toulon and Marseilles, or the persons slain in the little town of Redon, of which the whole population perished."

Heating Value of Wood

Fire wood gatherers who want to get the most heat for the least chopping will do well to cut black locust, Prof. Raymond J. Hoyle, of the New York State College of Forestry, has figured out. His tests place locust at the head of the list in heat-units per cord, followed in order of heating value by Hickory, oak, hornbeam, black ash, rock elm, sugar maple, and yellow birch. Enormous quantities of wood are cut each year for firewood, said Professor Hoyle. In New York state alone the annual fire wood supply would make a cord pile 12 inches wide, a foot high, and 200 miles long.

MARKET FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

New York, April 19 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets).—
New York up-state round white potatoes, U. S. No. 1, in 100-lb. sacks jobbed out at 75c-80c for the best, and as low as 60c for poorer.
Western New York yellow onions, U. S. No. 1, in 50-lb. sacks, sold from $2.40-$2.60.
Fresh receipts of apples from New York state were again light. Trading was generally light, but the market was about steady with price changes small and unimportant, particularly on fruit of attractive quality and condition. Western New York Baldwin apples U. S. commercial grade 2 1/2 inch, fair quality, jobbed out at $1.12 1/2 per crate or bushel basket. McIntosh apples, U. S. No. 1, 2 1/2 inch and upward ranged from $1.35-$1.87 1/2, depending upon color as well as quality and condition. Rhode Island Greenings 2 1/2 inch and upward brought $1.50-$1.75, and Rome Beauty No. 1, 3 inch, $1.60-$1.65, and 2 1/2 inch $1.60.
New York old crop round beets were in light supply, and the market held steady with the demand generally slow. 100-lb. sacks jobbed out at $1.50-$1.75, mainly around $1.55-$1.60.

Three Ulster Poultry Exhibitors' Records

Three Ulster County Poultry Club members are making an outstanding showing in the State 4-H Official Egg Laying Test which is held at Horseheads. For the 26th week which ended, April 14, Wesley Smith, of Saugerties had the highest number of eggs and the second highest number of points for the week. His five birds laid 31 eggs in seven days and the eggs averaged approximately 25 ounces, to the dozen. George Schneider of St. Remy stood eighth for the week and Carl Mikesch of St. Remy stood 10th. The records to date however are in reverse order with Carl Mikesch having the second highest number of eggs and the third highest number of points for 28 weeks. George Schneider is in sixth place on points and fifth place on eggs. In the standing for the highest individual birds in the contest Schneider's number four stands sixth, while Mikesch's number seven and three stand seventh and eighth respectively. Schneider's pen in this contest is sponsored by I. J. Kauder of New Paltz and Wesley Smith's pen is sponsored by the Lions Club of Saugerties.

Six Teams Now In The City League, Provisioners Give Up Franchise

At the meeting of the City Baseball League in City Judge Bernard A. Culliton's court room, Thursday night, the Ulster Provision Dealers Association team dropped out of the loop, leaving six teams to compete during the season which opens Tuesday evening, May 14.

Manager John Weiss of the U. P. A. withdrew his club following a short discussion concerning expenses. The rest of the managers, in harmony with the league plans, left their entry fees in the treasury with Ed Banks, who has charge of the funds.

No sooner had the U. P. A. withdrawn than Frank "Dolly" Tesso offered to take up the Provisioners' franchise for the Schwenk Bakery. The well known manager, who handles both baseball and basketball teams, said the Schwenk concern was anxious about getting into the circuit.

"We wanted to join the league in the first place, but neglected to send a representative to the organization meeting," continued "Dolly." "And I hope we are not too late now."

Membership in the league having been closed at the previous meeting, Joe Kelly, vice president, presiding in the absence of President Culliton, said the decision to let Schwenk take over the U. P. A. franchise rested with the managers. Ballots were passed out and Al Long and Joe Gardeski appointed tellers.

Bakers Barred
Secretary John Hartman collected the votes, which were 4-1 against reopening the league to let in the new team, the tellers reported.

It was the consensus of the managers that a six-team league is more desirable.

The teams in the league are: Crystal Beauty Shoppe, Hercules, Schryver Lumber Company, Roundout Social Club, Ad Jones Dairy, Forest's Foremost.

Roundouts Anxious
Jimmy DeCicco, manager of the North Roundouts, said his club seemed anxious to get an earlier start than the date picked by the league, and moved that May 7 be named as the inaugural.

"There are a few old timers in this league, who won't be in shape by that early date," said George Walker, boss of the Hercules. "I think we should stick to the 14th."

"Right," chimed in Jack Hartman, secretary. "Jack's experience over a period of years with City Leagues is that May 14 is just about right."

"Some of the boys will have to chop a lot of wood to get into condition, and we can't rush 'em," he said.

Goldsmith Ball Wins
Bids for furnishing the league with baseballs were sent in by William O'Reilly, Sweeney & Schonger and Kantowitz Brothers. Secretary Hartman read the figures quoted and the Kantowitz firm was awarded the contract by a unanimous vote.

Lou and Hess, the brothers, handle the Goldsmith ball.

Hess, given the privilege of the floor, after the vote by ballot, thanked the managers, concluding with "we'll treat you right and be ready to meet the demands of the league at all times."

The next meeting will be Thursday, April 25, when the rosters of the teams will be handed in by the managers.

Muscle Bound
Several conditions are described by the term muscle bound, but perhaps the commonest is that by which muscles, through constant practice, are trained to oppose one another rather than to act together in efficient work.

Thus, when a muscle is called into play involuntarily its opponent also contracts and the result is less efficient action. The condition can obviously be altered first by rest and then more efficient training of the muscles.

Layden Bemoans Loss Of Irish Key Men

South Bend, Ind. (AP)—Elmer Layden has broken out in a rendition of the well known "Football Blues" six months ahead of schedule at Notre Dame where spring practice is nearing an end after many interruptions.

If it hadn't been the weather it's been two other things, says the Irish mentor, as he bemoans the fact that his squad hasn't had opportunity for any concerted work.

One of the numerous interruptions was caused by the untimely death in New York of Captain-Elect Joe Sullivan. Besides putting a damper on the spirits of the squad, Layden says the loss of Sullivan gives him an almost impossible task of replacement.

As a tackle, the coach says, Sullivan had no equal on the squad. And as a leader and friend, Layden says, he'll never find another Joe.

So far Layden hasn't succeeded in finding adequate replacements for some of the strong men of last year's eleven who will be lost by graduation.

To compensate for his losses Layden has 22 lettermen returning, but most of them were minor cogs in last year's machine.

As it looks now the 1935 Irish machine will be built around the following men: Ends—Miller, Peters, Thernes. Tackles—Michuta, Stille, Becker, Pfeiffer, Steinkemper. Guards—Smith, Lauter, Church. Centers—Solari, Pojman. Halfbacks—Shakespeare, Pliny, Mike Layden, Mazzotti. Fullbacks—Elser, Fred Carideo, Miller.

All but Steinkemper and Lauter will be seniors next fall, meaning that Layden'll lose virtually his entire team by graduation a year hence.

Notre Dame has one of its most attractive home schedules in history next fall when Kansas, Pittsburgh, Northwestern and Southern California will appear in the stadium here. Carnegie Tech, Navy, Ohio State, Wisconsin and Army will be played away.

Inexperienced Crew Will Represent Navy

Annapolis, Md., April 19 (AP)—A varsity crew sturdy enough and fast enough but badly lacking in competitive experience is being whipped into shape to represent the U. S. Naval Academy in this spring's rowing competition.

Only two of the oarsmen who brought Navy's colors from the rear to take third place in the blanket finish at the Poughkeepsie regatta last year were available to Coach Charles S. Walsh for developing a stroke and building his entire 1935 varsity crew.

Graduation dealt a hard blow. Lost by this route were Archie Stone, stroke; Tim McMahon, No. 4; V. Smith, No. 3; W. A. Brockett, No. 2; Bill Coffin, bow, and Victor H. Krulak, coxswain.

Three veterans were on hand when the Navy flotilla of 13 boats including the varsity, junior varsity, third varsity, and two freshman crews working out on the Severn river in February. However, Ed McLean, in the No. 6 seat last spring, was taken ill. He has recovered sufficiently to be assigned a seat in the Jaycee boat.

This ill luck left only Joe Hood, who had rowed No. 7, and Tom Baldwin, No. 5. From these two, four former Jaycee oarsmen and two former members of the third varsity, Coach McLean has built this year's combination. He has shaped the boat around Hood, a strong 180-pounder who has been moved to stroke.

Portuguese January
Janerio in Portuguese means January. The water around Illo de Janeiro (River of January) is so called because it was discovered in January and was thought to be the mouth of a river. The city is the most spectacularly laid out metropolis in the world. Nature did much and man added handsomely to the work.

On the roster of the Hercules are the following players: Al Short, Frank Van Elton, Harry Houghtal, Jack Walker, Peterson, Robert Cullum, Norm Miles, Ken Best, Ernie Best, and Johnny Quest. Joe Dulin, Willard Thomas, Louis Wesley, Ed Scherer, Clyde Kern and George Farland.

Andy Gilroy is the bookie manager of the Hercules and managers interested in making matches with the Powdermen can communicate with him at the Hercules plant in Port Jervis.

The Hercules in their lavender and green uniforms will play in the league and make in free lance battles.

'Keeping Up—'

It is easy to believe that Capt. Lawrence "Biff" Jones was sincere when he said, "I'm glad of the opportunity offered by the transfer" when he received the army order which directed him to report to the University of Oklahoma.

What coach wouldn't be happy to take charge of the Sooners' football squad which numbers 23 lettermen? Lewie Hardage, Jones' immediate predecessor, rated the squad as the best looking group he ever laid eyes on.

Jones will have an opportunity to look the boys over carefully when he calls the squad out for a bit of spring training. A few lectures will serve to introduce his single and double wing back formations, new to the Big Six conference.

As the matter now stands, Jones has a year and a half to serve before entering the Fort Leavenworth War School for further training. But there is a possibility that his stay at Norman may be extended to four years.

A coach's hands are tied unless he has the material to carry out his plays on the gridiron. Coach Harry G. Kipke of the University of Michigan realized that after last year's disastrous season, if not long before.

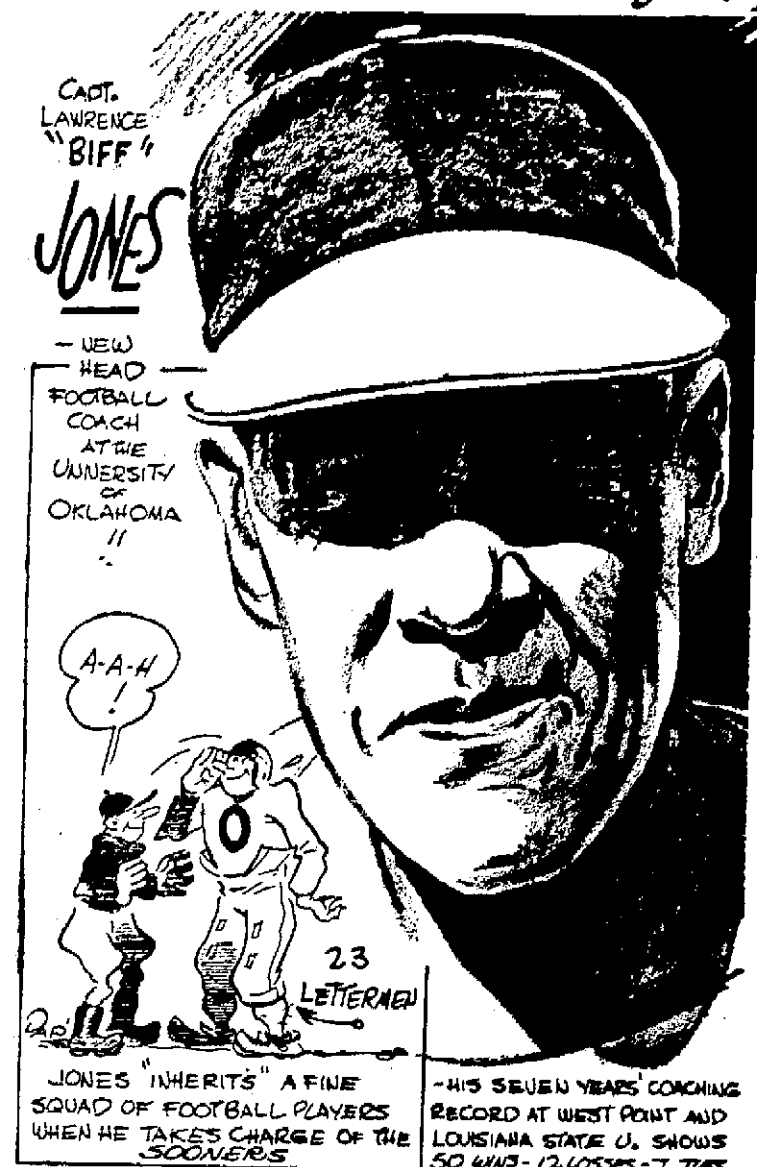

"First Generation" Best
The Michigan coach is convinced that the boys of foreign-born parentage make the best football players today. And the reason, he told Chicago alumni, is because the average American youth leads a pampered boyhood with too much emphasis placed on his development.

"Ask the modern youngster to walk a block for a loaf of bread, and he'll ask you for the keys to the car," says the coach whose team flopped from a mythical national championship to the bottom of the Big Ten in a year.

It's the boys from homes of foreign extraction, where, as a rule money isn't so plentiful, who can stand up and take it in a football game, says Kip.

By the time the average boy gets to college he's just about a first class sissy, says the coach. On the other hand, the football "naturals" have their drawbacks, too, says Kipke. "It's one thing getting them in college and another thing to keep them there with the present high scholastic requirements at Michigan."

Cavanaugh's Idea, Too
For a coach whose team won but one of eight games last fall, Kipke has been in anything but retirement. He figures he has travelled 63,000 miles in the last year, visiting more than 100 alumni groups and speaking before high school assemblies.

The Ins and Outs of Boxing

A Series of Stories

By Vince Coffey

TODAY: A STEAL FROM THE SCRAPBOOK.

"I'm entertaining company and haven't had time to write anything," said Vince Coffey yesterday to the messenger who called at his Creek Locks home for his daily story.

"Okay, Vince," said the kid. "But why not let me take your old scrapbook along?"

"No, you might lose it."

"Honest, I won't. Put it right here in the carrier on my bike."

Handing the book over to the sports department, the messenger, a smart little kid, said, "Vince was too busy to write, so I asked him for this. Maybe somebody can dig up a good story out of it, one that will tell more about Vince himself."

"Nice work, kid," said the scribe, looking over the stock of clippings in the book. "This is just what I want. The fans want to read about Coffey, but he won't write in the first person concerning his own fights."

So here's a steal from Coffey's scrapbook written more than 15 years ago by E. A. Mahar of Albany.

"We were walking down from the Knick Arena with a few friends from the South End. It was after the fight between Vince Coffey and Al Cross and the boys were pointing out the unusual features of that fight."

"If one hadn't seen Coffey work before, and we talked with many who hadn't, one would think the Kingston boy was under the influence of a strong narcotic! His hands wobbling lazily at his sides, dancing flat footed, if you can imagine how a flat-footed dancer looks, his eyes the picture of a man in a stupor, Coffey made a sad sight."

"Why that poor fellow won't last two rounds, a fellow on our right said as he watched the show. But didn't he? Did you really see Cross hit Coffey with his fastest leads? Did you see him do any serious damage to the Kingston boy in the infighting? Did he make much of a success out of the assaults he staged in the corners? No, no and again no."

"Seemingly dizzy, his feet unsteady, his legs apparently unable to hold their burden, Coffey proved a big surprise. He fought his fight, a most unusual one to be sure, but did you see him knock down a left lead with a silent swish of his hand, see him step inside a right or left cross, see him jab and leave a flow of blood where it hit? Did you see him take the lead when he thought the time had come to beat Cross to it? Did you see him time his wonderful right hand, and duck out of range when it landed? Did you see him crash a right, a left and then a right again in hooks to Cross's face in quick succession?"

"In fact, Mr. Fan, there were many things that one saw Coffey do, which, when we come to think it over, were unusual, almost uncanny, for a fellow of Coffey's style."

"We can't explain it fully, but we know this Coffey fellow personally and we might be able to grab off a solution. It was interesting for us to watch Coffey in training in Kingston last summer. He had Tony Marto, a tough Italian from the Bronx, who fought Jimmy Clements here two years ago, grossly after three rounds of fighting. And Marto was wearing a heavy head-guard. After some more training Coffey was down at the shower baths in the Kingston Council, K. of C. building."

The Solution
"Don't you ever take a rub, Vince?" asked Jimmie Belts, his manager, while the fighter was dressing.

"No," answered Vince. "You see I always maintained that a rub-down made a boxer lazy and if he doesn't get a rub-down after every workout, he doesn't feel right."

"These were his exact words and it seems to me that this gives one an idea of how to figure the Kingstonian. He is not lazy, as one might think. His strength is not ebbing, as a demagogue and style would indicate. He just fights his fight as he sees it—relaxes his muscles when they are not actually in use, thereby saving his strength for the time he needs it most."

So here ends the first real story on Coffey himself, stolen from his scrapbook, and which probably will make him plenty sore. But it surely has been of interest to those who have read it, I am sure, written by one of the old masters at recording the good points of a boxer, Mr. Mahar, Coffey's friend.

Galaxy and Meteorology
With the rapid growth of astronomy in terms have often changed their meanings. Dr. Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard observatory, recently defined some of them as follows: galaxy refers to a star system of the spiral nebula order of size (greater than star clusters). The Great Nebula in Andromeda: super-galaxies are systems of two or more galaxies apparently revolving around a common center or otherwise acting as a unit; the metagalaxy is the entire system of galaxies. It differs from the universe in that the latter presumably also contains "transcendental laws of nature, consciousness, etc."—Literary Digest.

Carved Altar Found
A carved altar of late Gothic design and genuine Swiss workmanship of 1522 was discovered in a church on the Burgomastel, Lake of Lucerne, Switzerland. This piece of work was built in the 16th of the last century by a French carpenter and acquired in 1808 by the Swiss chaise operating the mountain road.

Never Felt Better In My Life, Says Grove Who Is Ready To Go

New York, April 19 (AP)—The hope of a "gym" in Philadelphia is on the fast one again and every thing is all right with that part of the baseball world.

Populated by Robert Moses, Grove, "I never felt better in my life," the hope of the Boston Red Sox announced cheerfully today as he chewed on his pipe, successor to his favorite big black cigars.

"The fast one is hopping again," said the long, lean Lefty of the great Athletic days.

"There hasn't been a twinge in my shoulder all spring."

"I'm ready to go any day Joe Cronin says. We're waiting until it warms up a little, just to be sure. But the way things look now, I'll be in there every three days, and if they need a few innings of relief work in between now and then, that will be all right, too."

More convincing than any 10,000 words the big Lefty, only a couple of years ago a pitching invincible, could utter is Grove's calm, carefree attitude, the real tipoff on what is going on in the mind of the old Leaning Tower.

Last spring and summer, when the arm Tom Yawkey paid Connie Mack some $125,000 for, went bad, Grove was morose, fretful, harassed. But no more.

Tonight Did It
"Taking out my tonsils did it," he said proudly. "My teeth didn't have anything to do with the soreness in my arm. The pain was right between the two big muscles at the top of my left shoulder. There was a lump in there, deep. If I went away with the tonsils. Now everything's fine."

You'd scarcely know Robert Moses. He's been hunting all winter and exactly the same thing to keep them there with the present high scholastic requirements at Michigan."

A Story Can Be Found In This Speech Of A Nebraska Merchant

I HAVE BEEN IN BUSINESS 27 YEARS AND SELDOM MISS AN ISSUE OF THE LOCAL PAPER WITH AN AD OF SOME KIND.

I BELIEVE THE CONSTANT SPITTING OF A MACHINE GUN DOES MORE EXECUTING THAN THE OCCASIONAL BOOM OF A BIG BERTHA. IT SPAT-SPAT SHOT GETS RESULTS. SO IT IS WITH ADVERTISING: THE SMALL AD RUN EVERY WEEK IS BETTER FOR RESULTS THAN THE LARGE AD RUN HIT OR MISS. CONSECUTIVE ADVERTISING GETS THE BUSINESS.

WE ARE TOLD THAT AMERICAN BUSINESS NOW HAS HIT THE BOTTOM. AND THAT THINGS ARE BETTER. NOW IS THE TIME TO ADVERTISE OUR WARES AND GET THE PUBLIC TO START BUYING. THERE ARE ALL KINDS OF ADVERTISING SCHEMES AND I HAVE DABBLED IN THEM ALL, BUT THE ADVERTISING IN THE LOCAL NEWSPAPER IS BEST AND GIVES THE LARGEST RESULTS FOR MONEY SPENT.

PUT MORE TIME IN WRITING YOUR ADS, CREATE A DESIRE TO POSSESS, AND IT WILL GET THE BUSINESS.

IF YOU HAD A WHOLE BUSHEL OF CHAIN LINKS IT WOULD NOT PULL A LOAD. PUT THEM TOGETHER IN A CONTINUOUS CHAIN AND YOU HAVE A STRONG AND POWERFUL THING WITH WHICH TO PULL A LOAD. SO IT IS WITH ADVERTISING. LINK YOUR ADS TOGETHER, RUN THEM IN A CONTINUOUS STRING, WEEK AFTER WEEK, AND YOU WILL PRODUCE RESULTS

West Shokan, April 18.—Edmund C. Burgher, proprietor of the well known Burgher House summer hostelry made a business trip to Kingston Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Egbert M. Boice of Main street were present at the home of their son, Darville and family, Sunday at Olive Bridge, on the occasion of a gathering in honor of his birthday.

The town gasoline shovel in charge of Engineer William Tueling of Shokan was moved to the site of Richard Large's new bungalow at West Shokan Heights Tuesday afternoon, where a cellar excavation was started.

Justice Fred Simpson well known Accord dairy farmer, visited the turkey ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jevrey Sunday afternoon at Traver Hollow. Mr. Simpson purchased several settings of pedigreed broiler turkey eggs.

Francis Every and Abel Every, Jr. of the Watson Hollow sector were Kingston business callers Tuesday afternoon.

Lester S. Davis of Main street, who underwent an operation Monday at the Benedictine Hospital is reported getting on nicely. Mr. Davis is expected to remain in the hospital about two weeks.

It is learned that Mrs. Lena Smith of Krumville road who has been ill for several weeks is now somewhat improved. Mrs. Bush is the mother of James Bush, popular Department of Water supply employee.

Julian Eckert, the well known local teamster, is employed at the Morrison farm at Boiceville.

Jack Darling, William Shults and John Jordan, town of Olive members of the Phoenicia Knights of Pythias, attended a big lodge social doings there Monday evening. Mr. Jordan was formerly a member of the old Mountain Gate Knights of Pythias lodge at West Shokan which in 1912 became affiliated with C. N. Clay lodge of Kingston. Mr. Jordan on one or more occasions served very capably as district deputy. He also is an active Odd Fellow and for many years a past grand of Shokan Lodge, No. 491, likewise the financial secretary.

The Hildebrandt property against the sunny easterly slopes of High Point mountain was recently surveyed by the state and it is understood that this once favored summer vacation site among members of the Hildebrandt family is to be added to the state forest preserves.

A number of big trout have been taken since the season's opening from the Ashokan reservoir waters. The general catch is reported as limited due to the poor fishing weather to date.

A large delegation of representative Post Noble Grandstands from Shokan I. O. O. F. Lodge, No. 431, plan to attend the District Grand Committee meeting Friday evening at Garfield Lodge, Uster Park.

Francis Every of Watson Hollow intends going in for turkey raising strong again this year. Last season Mr. Every succeeded in raising a flock of some 75 fine birds for which he found a ready customer market.

William Eckert, the Bushkill Heights lone farmer who has raised a nice flock year after year, has an early hatch incubator set with turkey eggs. Deto Van Wageningen, proprietor of Blue Gates Poultry Farm, likewise will devote a portion of his plant to turkey raising. Mr. Van Wageningen purchased the Blue Gates farm property last year in time to get a good over winter start in the poultry game. He added a new poultry house of 500 capacity after locating on the property. Mr. Van Wageningen and his wife were formerly from Kerkonkson.

The Sunday school members under direction of the superintendent, Mrs. Bertha Thompson, are rehearsing a specially featured Easter program, which will be held Sunday evening at the Baptist Church. Everyone is cordially welcome to attend the services.

Paul James of Shokan was a West side caller on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall entertained a party of friends Saturday evening at their cozy wayside home in Olive Bridge.

Judge Henry Winchell of Suffern reports his flock of 300 Red Belts.

Bird young chicks requires quite as much attention as the famous Dionne quintuplets this cold spring weather. However the flock, Mr. Winchell says, is doing nicely.

A preacher as he looked over his large congregation last Easter Sunday morning, said: "I realize that there are many here who will not be with us again until next Easter time. I take this opportunity of wishing them a very Merry Christmas."

The Carpenter—We wonder what he charged for chairs at Nazareth. And did men try to beat him down. And boast about it in the town— "I bought it cheap for half a crown From that made Carpenter!" And did they promise and not pay? Put it off another day?

Oh! Did they break his heart that way? My Lord, the Carpenter? I wonder, did He have bad debts? And did He know any fears and frets?

The Gospel writer here forgets But that's just what I want to know. O Christ in Glory, here below Men cheat and lie to one another so. It's hard to be a Carpenter!

Wife—Do you know that you haven't kissed me for six weeks? Professor (who is very absent-minded)—Good heavens, whom have I been kissing then?

Mrs. Nubridge—I want to buy a box of breakfast food. Grocer—What kind?

Mrs. Nubridge—I don't remember the name, but it's the one the advertisements speak of so highly.

When this country does get back on its feet we wouldn't be surprised to find them planted squarely on the taxpayer's neck.

Math. Professor—Now, Mr. Zilchguard, if I lay three eggs here and five eggs there, how many will I have?

Mr. Zilchguard (skeptically)—I don't believe you can do it, sir.

Give love, and love to your life will flow. And honor will honor meet— And the smile that is sweet will surely know.

A smile that is just as sweet. For life is the mirror of king and state.

'Tis just what you are and do. Then give to the world the best you have. And the best will come back to you!

Rome Silent Today

Rome, April 19 (AP)—Rome's hundreds of church bells hung in silence today, as black-robed priests proscribed themselves before bare altars and led the devout in prayerful commemoration of Christ's death on the cross. Basilicas and churches throughout the Eternal City were draped in mourning, and the sacred images were covered with purple and black drapes for the Good Friday observances. Even the papal throne in the Sistine chapel was divested of its ornaments. In St. Peter's and other churches sermons based on Christ's reproaches to his crucifiers were delivered. Rome lay like a dead city between noon and 3 p.m.—the hours Christ hung on the cross. At sunset Romans celebrate the hour of the "Desolata," devoted in many churches to Mary's grief at the cross.

Mrs. William A. Becker Is D. A. R. President

Washington, April 19 (P).—Youthful pretty Mrs. William A. Becker, of Summit, N. J., was president-elect of the D. A. R. today—the winner over Dr. Flora Myers Gilentine, of Chattanooga, Tenn., by a 1,436 to 619 vote.

Into office with her in yesterday's election, her entire slate was swept by large majorities. Backed by Mrs. Russell William Magna, president-general for the past three years, the ticket widely regarded as the more "conservative" triumphed over the "insurgent" slate.

Mrs. Magna and Mrs. Becker, class-mates years ago at Smith College, embraced like happy school girls when tellers made a near-midnight announcement of election results last night.

Daughters who had waited for the verdict singing old-time songs, lingered on until past one a. m. and marched across the stage of Constitutional Hall, shaking hands with the winners.

Mrs. Gilentine, a sporting loser, hurried to the platform a little in advance of the victors, and made a little speech wishing them a happy regime.

Spenders of Billions

3. Tugwell—Left-Wing Savant

Third in a series of four daily articles.

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington, (AP).—The classic profile of young Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell, who will help spend the $5,000,000,000 work-relief appropriation, is known to thousands, but few really understand the social theories of this erudite "brain trust."

Tugwell, a favorite target of administration oppositionists since he left Columbia university's quiet halls, is the enigma of the "new deal"—perhaps the hardest man in all that circle to categorize. No one label suffices, but in general Washington recognizes him as leader in the leftist group of administration.

A "Hard" Talker

Tall and distinguished, he looks like a slightly graying matinee idol, but talks like what he is fundamentally—an eminently successful student, professor and economist. One of the reasons his ideas are so little understood is a seeming inability to put them in capsule. In speeches he uses terms that sometimes send men to dictionaries and he does not write in the popular language. For example, this Tugwell quotation had even some official brows wrinkled: "Chance has substituted itself for the anthropomorphic sequence of human existence."

Conservatives in both parties have viewed him with alarm periodically; members of the administration party in the senate put him severely over the jumps before approving his confirmation as under-secretary of agriculture, and in a recent AAA "purge" the axe fell upon some of his followers. Secretary Wallace approving that action but retaining his affection for "Rex."

"Red" Labeled Irked Him

He is in some respects a paradox—a man who for years has been an active writer but whose ideas few outside the academic fold ever have grasped; a beau brommel who doesn't like parties; a country-bred former farm boy typifying urbanity and suavity. Mildly astonished by the storms his views sometimes have raised he shies away now from official utterances. The heat of old controversies has tended to make him withdraw from the limelight. The "red" label pinned upon him by critics irked and wearied him, and he has said emphatically he is a constitutionalist and a democrat. Essentially an economist and sociologist, he nevertheless is known in

Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell—erudite brain-truster—a former farm boy—a beau brommel who shies at parties—the administration left-wing leader.

Literary circles as author of a first-rate monograph on Thomas Hardy.

In manner, save for the polished resonance of his speech, he is far from professorial, but he is no bon vivant. Those who know him well say he does his full share of genuinely hard work, much of it grinding and some of it routine. In addition to providing ideas for a wide range of subjects at White House conferences, Tugwell was a friend of President Roosevelt while the latter was governor of New York and long has had White House entree.

About the only thing in his youth that has arisen to plague him is a poem, written at 24. He wrote: "My plans are fashioned and practical; I shall roll up my sleeves—make America over."

Tomorrow—Hopkins.

30,000 Pests Per Foot

San Diego, Cal. (AP).—Pest control authorities who surveyed an area of 1,735 acres of grasshopper-egg-infested ground found one district near Cuyamaca which contained 1,146 grasshopper-egg-pods in a square foot. It was estimated the foot-square piece of ground could produce 30,000 hoppers.

Lad, 15, Ropes Timber Wolf

Gainesville, Tex. (AP).—Fifteen-year-old J. D. Lawson lassoed a timber wolf on the H. D. Field ranch near here. Riding range with his father, he jumped the wild dog. The lad tossed his lariat which dropped neatly on the wolf's neck. The animal leaped into the air and fell dead, its neck broken.

HOUSEKEEPING EXPERTS TO BE BALDWIN GUESTS

London (AP).—Mrs. Stanley Baldwin, wife of England's conservative party leader, has been selected as one of London's most expert housewives. She will entertain the world's critics of domestic efficiency July 18. The tea-party will be held at 11 Downing street.

These world experts of household science are spending a week in London during which time hostesses will be on their mettle. Forty papers will be read on how to run a home.

Returns to Duty

Sergeant James Cunningham of the State Troopers has returned to duty after a five-weeks furlough which was spent at Glens Falls and at his home in Saugerties. The sergeant spent some time in Glens Falls, his old home town, renewing old acquaintances.

Kentucky's 1934 burley tobacco crop brought the farmers $14,000,000 more than they received for 1933 production.

There is no need for a lot of whangdoodle talk about cigarettes
—just plain common-sense

When you stop to think about your cigarette—what it means to you—here's about the way you look at it—

Smoking a cigarette gives a lot of pleasure—it always has.

People have been smoking and enjoying tobacco in some form or another for over 400 years.

Of course you want a cigarette to be made right. And naturally you want it to be mild. Yet you want it to have the right taste—and plenty of it.

In other words—you want it to Satisfy.

Scientific methods and ripe mild tobaccos make Chesterfield a milder and better-tasting cigarette. We believe you will enjoy them.
